START MOVE TO BUILD COURT HOUSE ADDITION

Plans Approved For An Addition To Court House

County Commissioners Propose Re-modeling At Estimated Cost Of $34,900

WOULD PROVIDE ROOM NECESSARY

Offices For Which Rent Is Now Paid May Be Moved To Court House

An addition and improvements to the Lawrence county court house submitted to the grand jury by the county commissioners met with the approval of the jury this morning. The estimated cost is $34,920. In comparison with an estimated cost of $868,000 for a new court house, the commissioners believe that it will be t o the best interests of the county to make the improvements, since it will provide adequate room for many years to come.

It is figured that the saving of interest alone on the difference between the cost of the improvements and the cost of a new court house, would in a few years pay for all the improvements. The plans as prepared by Architect H. M. Wirsing, call for an addition to be erected to the south side of the court house between the walls of the south wing of the present structure, occupied by the register and recorder, and the south wing of the prothonotary's office. There are already three walls standing so that it would only be necessary to enclose one side. The plans also call for some additional room on the south side. There will be several angles which make ground floor dimensions of about 32x67 feet.

Anticipation of events in the future puts pep into our lives and makes us willing to work our fingers to the bone to buy gasoline. With the recent primaries on the 'has-been" list, our spirits will now be buoyed in anticipation of the November election. Chances are it will develop more fireworks than the primary. The primary was a pretty dull affair, but it achieved its purpose of putting candidates in the field. No much chance to split a ticket at the primary but some wedges are likely to be sharpened for the future.

The bird show which is to be held in the George Washington Junior high school October 15-16, should awaken the interest of every boy and girl in New Castle. It is surprising how many adults there are who are unable to name the birds common to this section. They can tell a robin, blue bird, crow and a few others, but there are a lot of feathered songsters whose names they can no more tell than they can name the letters of the Greek alphabet. It's a real pleasure to be able to name birds, as well as flowers, plants and trees.

The men were riding to work in the light machine and the accident occurred, police said, as they turned into a side-road from the main highway. The heavy vehicle, traveling behind, struck the coupe, overturned it and crushed the machine into a mass of wreckage. The men were dead when they were removed.

Believe Paralysis Danger In State Now Subsiding

State Secretary Of Health Issues Statement On Situation At Present

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 16—Dr. Edith MacBride-Dexter, secretary of health, announced today "all danger of the state-wide epidemic of infantile paralysis has virtually passed as far as Pennsylvania is concerned."

She warned, however that immediate isolation of all those believed to have contracted the disease was necessary, pointing out the danger in several communities was still acute.

"With half of September gone we have had a total of 146 cases reported since the first day of August, 78 of these cases in August and the remaining 68 since the first day of September," she said. "But these figures, alarming as they may sound are small compared to the epidemic years of 1916 and 1932."

Britain-France Say Situation Is Up To Mussolini

Declare Italian Premier Must Formally Ask To Join Submarine Patrol

OTHERWISE ITALY WILL BE IGNORED

Diplomatic "Face Saving" Is Now Big Factor In "Piracy Patrol" Move

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Great Britain and France have decided to ignore Italy in the Mediterranean anti-submarine patrol until Premier Mussolini formally asks the Nyon conference for permission to participate, it was learned today.

The decision marked stiffening of the British attitude under pressure from France. Abandoning hope of inducing France to agree to invite Il Duce to participate on a basis of parity as he demanded, Britian acquiesced to French insistence that Italy must request permission to participate.

Up To Italy.

Both British and French officials now feel the next move lies with Italy.

If Rome puts forward proposals for increasing effectiveness of the anti-piracy measures they will be carefully considered Such proposals, however, must be made direct to the Nyon conference.

In this connection, Italy again suggested a meeting of the international non-intervention committee to consider the crisis, but this both Britain and France turned down.

The ancient diplomatic custom of "face-saving"—dear to a European dictator as to a Chinese war lord—emerged today as the chief reason for delay of Italian participation in the Mediterranean anti-pirate patrol on a basis of complete parity.

Italy has made it plain she will have nothing to do with the "phantom submarine" hunt unless she can join it on terms of complete equality with Britain and France.

It took them 19 hours to tally the borough's 220 votes cast in the Tuesday primary.

Constitutional Celebration To Occur Tomorrow

Plans For Observance Of Occasion In New Castle Have Been Completed

WHISTLES AND BELLS TO SOUND

New Castle citizens will cooperate tomorrow in observing the 150th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution, when silent tribute will be paid by the citizens as the whistles and bells of the city sound a salute.

All plans for the observance have been completed, Chairman Fred L. Rentz stated today, and the hearty cooperation of the heads of local industries, churches, and schools in the program has been assured by those responsible.

Promptly at the stroke of 12 noon, the whistles on the different factory buildings of the city will sound, while church and school bells will peal out in a noisy salute.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath, who is a member of the state committee in charge of the local celebration has heartily endorsed the plans of Mr. Rentz, and has asked all citizens to cooperate in this effort.

In addition to the salute of the whistles and bells, there will be patriotic programs given in all the schools of the city tomorrow which will carry the theme of the constitutional convention and the events which surrounded the adoption of this historic document.

New York's Primary Bringing Million Voters To Polls Today

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—With national controversies over the New Deal and the Ku Klux Klan ringing in their ears instead of local issues, one million voters trooped to the polls today in the most unique and confused primary election in the city's history.

The mayoralty race is a three-cornered one with U. S. Senator Royal S. Copeland and Jeremiah T. Mahoney, both Tammanyites, "running on the Democratic ticket and Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, elected as a Fusionite, running against Copeland on the Republican ballot.

Mahoney, president of the Amateur Athletic Union and a former New York supreme court justice, is a New Deal Democrat and the choice of Postmaster General James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic state and national committees. Copeland, regular Tammany Hall candidate, has the indorsement of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

Tammany Prestige At Stake

Tammany prestige, as well as that of the New Deal, was at stake. Loss of Democratic district leadership contests in Manhattan, coupled with defeat of Copeland, probably would result in a change of leadership at the wigwam.

Unbiased observers predicted Mahoney would win the Democratic nomination and that LaGuardia would triumph in the Republican primary.

TOW-LINE BROKE ON MONDAY NIGHT

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Plunging through heavy seas, two U. S. coastguard cutters today searched the North Atlantic, 300 miles offshore, for the racing sloop Endeavor I which, with 20 professional yachtsmen aboard, has been missing since the towline of her convoy yacht parted during a hurricane last Monday night.

Although some concern was felt for the safety of those aboard, it was recalled that the sleek-hulled racer, unsuccessful contestant in the 1934 America's cup races, suffered a similar mishap while enroute to Newport from England early this summer but fought her way through to safety.

WAR MATERIALS ARE UNLOADED

Cargo Of China Bound Ship Is Unloaded At Los Angeles Harbor

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Sept. 16.—Unloading of war materials, destined for China, including 19 bombing planes, from the government-owned freighter Wichita began today in the outer harbor.

A huge barge was towed up to the ship as she rode grimly at anchor and a crew of longshoremen began work immediately.

The freighter arrived here from Baltimore early today. Instead of proceeding to her dock to re-fuel she hove to well out from shore.

Unloading of the ship was believed in compliance with President Roosevelt's order this week prohibiting government owned vessels to transport arms, ammunition or other implements of war to China or Japan.

Japanese Planes Destroy Two Troop Trains In Day's Attack

By JOHN GOTTE

PEIPING, Sept. 16.—Thousands of Chinese were killed today as advancing Japanese troops swept irresistably forward in their offensive to the southwest from Peiping.

Commanded by one of Nippon's foremost military chieftains, General Count Terauchi, the Japanese followed up their smashing victories yesterday by new hammer-like onslaughts today that left Chinese forces no choice but to flee or die.

Chinese Powerless

One hundred thousand Chinese troops battled their foes in stubborn rearguard actions, but they were powerless against the tanks and heavy artillery and airplanes arrayed against them.

Once again it was war's old story of machine-like military might riding roughshod over a larger but less well-equipped force.

In the carnage that ensued, whole companies of Chinese preferred to be wiped out rather than retreat. The Japanese wiped them out willingly and speedily.

Report 1,000 Dead

In one narrow sector alone, Japanese officials here stated, the Japanese officers on the field counted 1,000 dead.

What the deaths of Chinese numbered over the entire 79-mile front could only be conjectured, the Japanese said.

Claiming advances of five to nine miles, the Japanese believe they

Youth From Pennsylvania Reformatory Shot In Attempt To Rob Roadhouse

(International News Service)

BROOKLAWN, N. J., Sept. 16.—Robert Schofield, 17, of Bradford, Pa., described by police as a fugitive from a Pennsylvania reformatory, today was shot in both legs and beaten into submission with a shotgun when he attempted to rob a roadhouse here.

Samuel Blackiston, a one-time champion amateur boxer and proprietor of the Log Cabin Inn, fired the shots when the youth refused to obey his command to surrender, police said.

Schofield told authorities he escaped two months ago from the reformatory at Morganza, Washington County, Pa., where he was serving a sentence for stealing coal. Since his escape he admitted, detectives said, that he committed a dozen robberies in this area. When captured the youth had a pistol in his possession, authorities reported.

State Patrol To Get 200 New Cars

Earle Sanctions Buying Of Cars

Will Be Used In Patrol Work To Bring Safety To State Highways

MOTORCYCLES WILL LIKELY BE REPLACED

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 16.—Upon the recommendation of Commissioner Percy Foote of the Pennsylvania motor police, Gov. George H. Earle today sanctioned the purchase of 200 "ghost" cars for patroling the state's highways.

Marking one of the final steps in this administration's current drive against highway accidents and the resultant toll of death and injury, requisition for the purchase of the white cruiser-cars received the chief executive's approval today.

When Commissioner Foote requested 50 cars, the governor, fresh from a European vacation, raised the ante to 200, asserting:

Need At Least 200.

"If we are going to place an honest-to-goodness safety drive in effect, let's not go half way. Fifty cars wouldn't scratch the surface. We need at least 200."

Governor Earle explained his purpose in approving purchase of the cars was two-fold; first, better control of the highways for reducing the "appalling death rate", and, second, to protect the lives of Pennsylvania motor policemen.

"The motorcycle," he asserted, "is all right during favorable weather conditions, but when the pavement is wet they are practically useless."

Radio and loud-speaker equipment will be attached to the new cars for the purpose of keeping in touch with sub-stations and directing traffic along the highways.

"I don't believe in laying traps for motorists," said the governor.

PLANS APPROVED FOR AN ADDITION TO COURT HOUSE

rents which are now paid for offices down street for the judges, district attorney, and county superintendent of schools. Rooms would be provided at the court house for all of these offices.

In the petition presented to the grand jury by the county commissioners it is set forth that the rooms at the court house are now badly crowded, and it is absolutely necessary to provide more room for the transaction of business and for the keeping of the records.

The plans contemplate the revamping of practically all of the offices on the first floor. More room would be provided for the sheriff, prothonotary, register and recorder, county treasurer, registration bureau and county commissioners.

Have No Office

At present the county commissioners have no office since they gave up their private room for the storing of records in the registration bureau. They have been domiciled in the corridor of the court house.

Plans have also been drawn and approved for the changing of the front part of the court house in order to provide a room for the county commissioners and more room for the county treasurer.

On the second floor there would be no change in the court rooms, but there will be changes in the jury rooms and in the law library. At present there are no suitable rest rooms for ladies. In the jury rooms they must use the same toilets as the men, which is generally a cause for embarrassment.

The new addition if built to the south side of the court house would not destroy the symnetry of the court house, as it would present the same view from Court street.

After being approved by the grand jury the plans were given to the court for consideration. If approved by the court the commissioners will be ready to go ahead with the improvements. The plans also provide for fire proof vaults for the keeping of records, and for a vault in the basement for use of the prothonotary in keeping records that are not often needed.

BRITAIN-FRANCE SAY SITUATION IS UP TO MUSSOLINI

diplomatic advices, Rome—which means Premier Mussolini—is unwilling to be placed in the position of asking either the Nyon conferees or the British or French governments for permission to participate in a patrol of Italy's "Mare Nostrum", the Mediterranean sea.

Mussolini is holding out for the British and French to invite him to participate on his own terms, complete parity.

This view was borne out by news dispatches from the Italian capital which stated "authoritatively" that Italy feels the next move in the Mediterranean pirate-hunt is up to Britain and France.

Italy, these reports insisted, will not make any approach to the nine nations represented at the Nyon conference, which arranged the Mediterranean patrol. As one Italian official put it:

"We are content to do nothing further until the next meeting of the non-intervention committee."

The British, it was learned here, are perfectly willing to let Mussolini have his way, thereby "saving his face", but they know the French would object to this procedure and the Soviets would oppose it with utmost vigor.

SIX COUNCILMEN ARE ARRESTED IN CLARKSBURG, W. VA.

troopers told a sensational story of posing as garbage incinerator contractors and meeting in a hotel, in the home of one of the councilmen and on the streets while hidden dictagraphs recorded the conversations. They charged the men with each demanding $1,500 for the contract.

Those accused were Thomas Cornwell, a railroader; Ray Titchinal, grain dealer; Joseph A. Oliverio, drug store operator, and Frank O'Day, a former hotel clerk, all Democrats, and H. B. Criss, a painter and decorator, and Frank P. Underwood, a barber, both Republicans.

"It's a frameup," O'Day said in a statement which was echoed by the other councilmen.

The arrests took place as council was about to consider the bids for the proposed garbage incinerator and collection. Trooper Musgrave told the following story:

Trooper Tells Story.

"I came here with Trooper Warren, registering at the Gore notel as C. F. Graves. Warren was Lee Mason, a young man from Huntington whose father was supposed to be a wealthy contractor.

"I first called O'Day to the hotel, telling him we were of the firm of Mason and Graves, but that young Mason's father was the principal in the concern and that the youngster was just out of college 'playing around'. Warren is extremely youthful looking.

"We proposed to build the incinerator and collect the garbage. In turn, we were to pay the city eight percent from the garbage collection returns and five per cent of our gross income. This, it was estimated, would be between $30,000 and $40,000 yearly.

O'Day said: 'That is a golden opportunity for you. You ought to net $100,000 a year.'

"That night, at another meeting, O'Day said: 'You can get the contract if you've got what it takes.' He did not set any amount as to 'what it takes'.

Have Many Meetings.

"At still another meeting, however, he set $100 a month as the amount he should receive personally. He said: 'We do business like that. Politics here is like that.'

"We had a dozen or so further meetings, during which one of the six councilmen said: 'Now, you're in the contracting business. You know what it takes to do business.'

"Their price went up four different times, from $100 a month flat to each of the six to $1,500 a year cash for each. They first wanted a five-year contract along this line but we finally agreed to two years.

"Most of the meetings were at Oliverio's house. We had a dictagraph hidden there as well as at the hotel and we have a record of most of the deliberations.

"I put them off with the plea that we were just starting in business and that while my partner's father had plenty of cash, he did not countenance such dealings and that it would take time to make such arrangements. The arrests followed last night."

O'Day in his statement said:

"It's all news to me. Those two were determined to bribe us. But I never took a bribe in all my life. Yes, we met them at Olverio's home but it was solely to discuss the contract itself and none of us ever agreed to take any money for our services in the matter. It's a frameup."

"I never attended any meetings at Oliverio's," said Underwood. "In fact, I favored city collection of garbage and was against any letting of the contract."

The others issued statements denying any complicity in soliciting bribes.

O'Day branded the charges a "frameup," adding the six councilmen were preparing to oust City Manager R. M. Thomason. Under the charter, six votes are required for an ouster.

to the foreground in the closing hours of the campaign when Smith, in an address last night, revived the celebrated feud between himself and President Roosevelt.

Ridiculing statements by Mahoney that the New Deal represented the principles of Jefferson and Cleveland, the former Democratic presidential candidate attacked President Roosevelt for "wandering from Democratic principles." He said:

"Even the Republican party in its long history was unable to produce anything so diametrically opposed to the Democratic principles of these great men as the New Deal.

"Do Not Hate President"

"I do not hate the president of the United States. I never hated anybody in my life and Jerry Mahoney knows just as well as I do that the church we both belong to will not permit us to hate anybody."

This was in reply to Mahoney's charges that Smith picked Copeland, an ardent anti-New Dealer, to spite the president.

Defending Senator Copeland's record at Washington, the famous wearer of the Brown Derby remarked, while his audience of 1,500 laughed loudly, that "he just opposed some of the president's measures and he had plenty of company in that."

At the same meeting, Copeland wound up his campaign with another attack on the Ku Klux Klan. He charged that Justice Hugo L. Black had deceived President Roosevelt on his connection with the Klan, obtaining his appointment to the U. S. supreme court "by fraud" and demanded that he resign his post.

Seek Exoneration Of Tax By City

Walter Smith, colored, 1017 Croton avenue, today appeared before council and asked that council exonerate the B. & O. railroad company of taxes on a building used as a foundry in order that the company would make $1,000 repairs to the roof and permit the place to be used for recreational purposes for colored youths. The taxes amount to $300.00, or less, a year, it was reported. The building is located in Moravia street, across from the Penn Coal & Supply Company.

Smith said there is no place here that colored youths may use for recreational purposes. He said that if the colored youths had such a place they would make better citizens.

Council promised to consider the request.

After midnight Sunday, a member of Viva's crew reported the towline had parted. The Viva, unable to receive a response from the radio set aboard the Endeavour I, searched all day Tuesday and finally reached Newport last night.

Asks Some Action To Guard Cellars From Flood Water

Attorney Roy Jamison today appeared before council where he presented a petition in which the city was asked to take such action that would prevent cellars and first floors of business places being flooded during hard rain storms in West Washington street between the Shenango river and the Public Square.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath replied to Mr. Jamison, that council had already given the situation consideration and were considering plans to eliminate the evil.

City Engineer Glenn Throop advanced the idea that were a large storm sewer built in North street to the Shenango river, it would prevent places downtown, south of North street, being flooded.

BAIRD SOCIETY HAS INITIAL GATHERING

Meeting in the lovely home of Mrs. John Haven on Norwood avenue Wednesday afternoon, the Baird Missionary society of Highland church had its first fall session. The president, Mrs. R. S. Cline, was in charge.

An impressive devotional period was conducted at the opening of the meeting by Mrs. C. J. Streib, in which a beautiful vocal duet was offered by Mrs. Sarah Patterson and Mrs. Emma Schaller.

Mrs. Thomas Lindsley and Mrs. James Cole presented papers on temperance subjects. Mrs. D. L. Ferguson concluded the program with prayer for the two young missionaries, Rev. and Mrs. Willis McGill, who are on their way to Egypt, where they will be supported in their work by Highland church.

A tasty luncheon was served at the close by Mrs. Clyde Burry, Mrs. C. C. Wilson and Mrs. Auble.

S. A. S. Club.

SPLENDID PAPERS AT EAST SIDE CLUB

Three unusually fine papers constituted the program Wednesday for the East Side Garden club which held the October session in the East Washington street home of Mrs. Fred Remley.

Mrs. C. R. Brenner built up a most interesting talk on the theme "Gardens and Morals", bringing out the fact that environment is a strong influence in determining conduct, a garden setting at any time being conducive to beautiful thought.

"Usefulness of Birds on the Farm" was the subject of the second paper, by Mrs. Glenn Orr, who stressed the fact that even though the little feathered friends take a goodly share of seeds, they still do more good than harm by eliminating pests.

In discussing "Fall Division of Perennials" Mrs. Earl S. McKnight spoke of the popular fallacy about this class of flowers. She said that many people believe perennials die down every year and come up again in the spring. However, many never come up again after two or three years of flowering, due to the fact that perennials are not necessarily perpetuals, and must be divided. September is the general "moving month" for the gardener, a pleasant month in which to work, as well as a most beneficial one for plant division and changes in locations.

Members named different varieties of iris in response to roll call, which was another interesting and worthwhile part of the program.

At the business session conducted by the president, Mrs. Brenner, reports were heard about the recent flower show in Epworth church which was an unqualified success.

September is the month in which the East Side club presents trees to winners in the East Side schools for summer gardens, and this matter was up for discussion. The committee consists of Mrs. Katherine McEntire and Mrs. J. A. Wilson.

All summer, the East Side club has planned a pilgrimage to Gaston park and since the members have been prevented from going until now, plans were furthered for a trip when the leaves turn, with a hamburg fry at noon featuring. Mrs. Earl McKnight, Mrs. Sherman Kitson and Mrs. J. A. Wilson comprise the committee for this activity.

Preceding the program yesterday the guests enjoyed the usual buffet luncheon at 1 o'clock. The pretty table was centered with a bouquet of late summer blooms, and the aides were Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. McKnight.

In October, the next meeting will take place on the regular day, the 13th, at the home of Mrs. David Ritchie, South Mill street.

The age when eyes stand on tip-toe too

The eyes of a growing child have amazing powers of accommodation. Thus they can overcome small refraction errors and can see well without glasses even when glasses are needed. But this seeing through defective eyes is always a harmful strain.

Small refraction errors will grow into serious eye trouble later in life. If relieved early enough, however, they will cure themselves. Small refraction errors should be corrected by glasses. The only way to detect them is by an eyesight examination. The best time is at the start of the school year.

MUST GUARD CONSTITUTION

BEYOND all the pageantry and ceremony of the sesquicentennial celebration of the constitution it is essential that the people of the nation rededicate themselves at this time to the protection and preservation of the fundamental law which safeguards their freedom.

No nation in the world has so precious a possession as America's written constitution, not even democratic Great Britain. Nowhere is the lack of national guarantees of liberties so appalling as in Russia, in Italy and in Germany.

Never since the constitution was drafted and signed one hundred and fifty years ago has it been so imperatively necessary that its integrity be defended from all harm as at the present time. The world is in a ferment. War and fears of war are stalking east and west. Democracy in many foreign countries has given way before an onrush of communism and fascism. Attempts are being made to turn Europe into two armed camps of conflicting philosophies.

If we would preserve our right of self-rule we must preserve, first, the constitution which is the creator and guarantor of self-rule. If we want to change it, we have the right and the ability to do so. But defend it from nullification we must, if we cherish our freedom.

Our constitution is the people's constitution, theirs to enjoy and theirs to protect. As guardian of their rights it requires their everlasting and unfailing loyalty.

LITTLE NEEDED AS YET

Dr. Victor E. Levine of Creighton University, Omaha, has gone to Alaska to study the Aleutian Islands which make stepping stones from the big peninsula toward Asia. He wants to find out whether they can ever be populated with people from temperate climates.

"With the steady increase in the world's population," he explains, "it will be necessary eventually to determine whether the vast regions in the Arctic Circle can be opened for habitation from the more temperate climates of the world, and especially for those races who have lived there for generations.

Historically, races and civilizations seem to shift from cold to warm climates rather than the opposite. And it might be supposed that, in any matter of this sort, individuals would mostly settle the matter for themselves, filtering into any region that seemed to offer them better opportunity. Even countries with dictatorial governments have seldom been successful in transplanting people where they didn't want to go.

Unless for sound reasons of international policy and military expediency, why make any unnatural attempt at transplanting people from the temperate zone to the Arctic? As far as Americans are concerned, with our vast areas at home, our big opportunity probably lies in developing and using the land we have here.

TRAILERS

Those who think that life in an automobile trailer is a casual, carefree, nomadic existence suffer a rude awakening when they read of the formation of a Uniform Trailer Legislation Committee being formed under the auspices of the New York Joint Legislative Committee on Interstate Co-operation. That sounds formidable, but so is the problem of trailers. It is reported that so much state and municipal legislation has been enacted that it's almost impossible for a trailer to move without breaking some law.

For example, in New York a trailer can be 13 feet high, but in Connecticut it can't be higher than 12 feet 2 inches. In other states there's no height restriction whatever. Massachusetts puts a 1,000-pound limit on trailer load, so in going from New York to Maine with flatirons and such aboard, that commonwealth is a place to avoid. The maximum trailer length varies from 27 feet for Tennessee to 60 feet for Nevada.

Altogether the trailer seems a legislative stepchild. Yet it provides a unique form of transportation, which thousands of people relish, and there are even those who find that a permanent life on wheels has its virtues. Represented on the Uniform Trailer Legislation Committee are New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont and Rhode Island.

So, soon it ought to be possible, at least in the northeastern part of the United States, to hitch up a trailer and venture abroad, secure in the knowledge that whatever else happens, there will be no detour to a court room.

RAIN ON THE ROOF

(From The New York Times.)

Many pleasant sounds there are in the life of man, but none, surely, that, heard under the right circumstances, so gladdens his heart as the sound of rain on the roof. Let him be sheltered, let him be easy in his mind, let him have friends around him or be thinking of friends, let him know that this rain which drums upon the shingles and whirls against the panes is needed for the great purposes of the earth—and then he may be indeed content.

Then he will think of the dry lands, and of the rain coming to bless them, of the rills gathering strength and moving more and more swiftly, brown—but not too brown, for the erosion specialists will get him if he likes them too brown; and of the mighty movement of waters that ends in the sea.

And he will think of times past, of rising streams into which the willows dipped their branches deeply, and more deeply, of the foaming water tumbling down the little gorge behind the farmhouse, of cows lifting dripping brown heads and plunging them again into the lush grass, and of rain at night, and rain on decks at sea, and of the songs of various lovely kinds, in major and minor strains, that the rain sings.. And he will think of city streets in the rain after dark, and how the reflected lights drew out in fantastic patterns on the pavement, and how the air was washed clean of city dust. And he will smell the smell of open country after rain.

And he will hear in rain the rhythms of stars in their flight through space, of the revolving globe, of rivers and seas that move in their appointed places, of the life of man himself responding also to laws of nature, having a meaning, not shattered forever by the clash of armies which he may also hear, faintly, carried by the same winds that are shepherds to the clouds.

This is the logical time to begin the predictions of blizzards

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILD NEEDS REST

A week or two after school opens, that child of yours who is just a beginner may grow irritable and quarrelsome. He may be more excitable and fidgety than usual. He may not go to sleep so readily, and may awaken earlier than usual in the morning. His sleep may be less sound; he even may have night terrors. He may begin to bite his fingernails or bite them more violently. He may eat faster, have worse table manners, or he may have poorer appetite and may become more finicky over foods. Perhaps he smiles less than he did, and his face may indicate strain.

Most children, however, seem to be healthier after entering school. The regularity of the program just suits their needs.

But if your child does reveal ill effects from the school experience, more punishment will not help; less punishment might. Work on yourself and the family first in order to create a more serene program. Silence the radio while he is awake, and let every person speak in quiet tones.

Have the child lie down for half an hour on arriving home from school. Read to him then to quiet him. On Saturday and Sunday have him lie down for an hour in the afternoon. Treat him as a sick child. Have no argument. Carry out the program to the letter. You can afford to neglect almost anything else, if necessary.

But get him out of doors to play, though not for too long at a stretch. Don't scold him for biting his fingernails. As he regains poise this practice will subside.

Rest Periods Desirable

I wish the teacher would have several brief periods each day for rest by all elementary children, especially for primary children, when they will lie flat on the floor for ten or fifteen minutes. For a few children who are extremely fidgety special rest periods at school should be assigned.

In an earlier column I noted that I had seen elementary children as high as the sixth grade in the schools of Battle Creek, Mich., lying on the floor in a rest program. I wish such a program for serenity might be launched in all elementary schools. Whereas we used to think the main job of the teacher was to stimulate children, surely a major job of hers now is to help them feel more calm. Her watchword, as well as that of parents, ought to be serenity.

And why shouldn't we whistle in the dark?

A whistle is not such a bad thing. It chases away the ghosts. It takes the mind from your troubles.

DEAR MISS MARKEL—I find it embarrassing when visiting a home where there is a servant. I have been told that a tip should be given to the maid, but this seems strange to me. When should it be given and where should it be placed?
BASHFUL.

Answer — Unless your hostess has asked you not to tip her servant, you should do so, especially if your visit caused her extra work or special service.

For a visit of a few days $1 should be either given personally to the maid or left on the dresser of your room, with a ship designating its purpose.

Do not give the servant a tip in the presence of the hostess or of any of the other guests.

Answer — Suggestions for bridegroom's gift: A ring, cuff links, cigarette case, billfold, card case, tie clasp, wrist watch.

If no embarrassment would result from the meeting of your ex-fiance and your bridegroom, and if you parted amicably with the former, you may invite him to the wedding.

China Situation Causes Concerns.
America Not Worried Over Europe.
Seek Policy To Promote Peace.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

NOT THE Mediterranean, not Europe are the chief worry of the American state department. The conflict in China is the problem.

The president is criticised as evading the expressed desires of congress, when it passed the neutrality act, making its application mandatory in case of war.

The excuse — if one is needed— has been to date that there has been no declared war, and the American government is reluctant to be the first to assert that there is a war status. In other words, there is hope—or IS there? To the average citizen, it seems as if the conflict in China is war at its worst, and that it will be long drawn out. And American ships carrying planes to China may be stopped by Japanese warships and an "incident" occur.

If the United States invokes its neutrality act, China will be harmed the more. Under the act's "cash and carry" provisions, Japan can come for supplies with its own ships; China has no ships. (But perhaps the president has the authority, or could call congress into special session to give the authority, to clap on an absolute embargo of war munitions or ray products to either side.)

ANOTHER ANGLE

Then, there is another angle—an angle which on a previous occasion involved the United States in a war in Europe: trade. Japan is the largest customer the United States has for its cotton. And world markets are overloaded this year with cotton—overloaded everywhere except in Japan.

That this will have any final bearing with President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull is out of the question. If the price of peace means the temporary loss of a cotton market, then the cotton market will be lost. In fact, a world at peace would buy many times the amount of cotton a world at war could buy. Peace always is the "bull" market.

WHAT TO BE DONE?

That the Japanese will try to gather all of China into their fold and gain a political and economic monopoly over entire eastern Asia is a foregone conclusion. This, eventually, will cause heavy pressure to be brought on the government to "do something".

But what? To "do something" means war, no less. Those who would have us "do something" are not altruistic concerning the fate of China. They think merely of the United States losing its trade with China, and of Japan gaining a land which eventually could supply many of its needs that the United States now supplies. (Yet that is doubtful. Immense cash outlays for development would be needed—and Japan's present colonization efforts have been a strain on the nation's credit.)

The United States is the largest trader in the world with China. Thus the United States is interested in the Open Door policy in China. Great Britain has the largest investments; America's are small, in comparison with Great Britain's and Japan's. Great Britain's investments are in south China. Thus Great Britain did not seem much interested when the Japanese overran northern China. But now that south China cities also are threatened, Great Britain is worried. It probably desires the

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

"FULTON'S FOLLY"

Exactly 130 years ago in the month of August, a marvelous, paddle-wheeled contraption chugged its way up the Hudson from New York to Albany. This was Robert Fulton's "Clermont" and it showed a startled world steam could be used for something of immense practical value.

By August, 1807, people had gotten used to expecting queer inventions from this amazing American, even though they doubted his horse-sense. After all, wasn't he the queer fellow who did pictures or cows and lakes?

And in 1804, hadn't he built a crazy, hand-run thing-a-magig of wood called a submarine that he said would travel under water. A thing that France, England and the United States considered too plain goofy with which to bother?

But it wasn't long till farmers, at least, saw that the "Clermont's" voyage signified greater things than an example of "Fulton's Folly."

It meant up-state farmers could then ship their products directly to a great New York market. Farmers did not have to worry how in samhill the people around Albany could consume their products, or through how many homes their goods would pass on their way to market. The way was opened for marketing farm products to thousands of new customers by a single, short route. What products Joe Higginbothom, the corner grocer, couldn't take off their hands, the direct channel enabled farmers to sell elsewhere.

When the "Clermont" docked at Albany 130 years ago, two progressive developments followed. Fulton finally got a contract from the U. S. government to build a 38-ton steamship, and a foundation stone was laid for the same direct mass marketing which now enables America's farmers to supply millions of consumers through modern methods of distribution.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 16.

Once Upon Sept. 16—Americans are likely to think of the Inquisition as something that never touched this country; as having expired with Thomas de Torquemada, who died peacefully in bed, aged 78, on September 16, 1498, after having acquired the reputation of being the greatest executioner of the Christian era. As inquisitor-general by leave of Ferdinand and Isabella, rulers the joint kingdom of Castile and Aragon, Torquamada condemned 8,800 persons to be burned alive.

The Inquisition in Spain did not end with Torquamada it continued another 300 years.

It had its parallel in Massachusetts, in the theocracy set up by persons who fled England to obtain religious liberty. Quakers were tried by judges who corresponded to inquisitors; and sentenced to be beaten and forced to leave the colony Women Quakers were driven naked through the streets to exile, and some were hanged. In Boston, 286 years ago, Obediah Holmes was whipped because he was a Baptist.

(Today, Baptists are the most numerous Protestant denomination in Massachusetts.)

As pointed out here a few days ago, religious bigotry was rampant not only in early Massachusetts but in New York, Pennsylvania and other colonies.

On Other Sept. 16th.—1655—Gov. Peter Stuyvesant of New Amsterdam, kept part of America from being Swedish. He captured Fort Christiana (Wilmington) in New Sweden (Delaware) and ordered all Swedes who didn't swear allegiance to Holland to be deported. The Dutch claimed the territory by right of purchase from the Amerindians, but the artful Redskins had also sold the land to the Swedes. There's an old saying, "You can't beat the Dutch," but the Amerindians beat them twice. They paid over repeatedly in real estate deals.

1672—Anne Bradstreet, wife of Simon Bradstreet, governor of Massachusetts Bay Colony, died. She, mother of eight, in time spared by household studies, wrote the book of poems which constituted the first original volumn published in English in the western hemisphere. She gave it a title that was 57 words long. The publishers called it simply, "The Tenth Muse Lately Sprung Up in America, etc." when it appeared in 1640.

1857—120 men, women and children enroute to California, were killed in Utah by Amerindians led by Mormons, in what has come to be known as the Mountain Meadows massacre.

75 Years Ago Today—McClellan's 85,000 men faced Robert E. Lee's 40,000 at Antietan Creek, near Sharpsburg, Md., and won the first notable Union victory of the war between the States. President Lincoln, then less than 100 miles away in Washington got the news first from the New York Tribune, two days later! It moved him to issue his Emancipation Proclamation.

1920—A bomb explosion in Wall street, opposite J. P. Morgan' & Co. killed 30 persons.

HOME

A pipe, a book, an easy chair;
Upon the hearth a blazing log;
In summer time a garden fair;
A place where we can keep a dog;
A spot where care in laughter ends,
When mother serves the cakes and tea
A door that opens wide for friends—
All these and more are home to me.

The kitchen where the kettle sings
The stairway where the children race
And all the old familiar things
Which every nook and corner grace;

The street where neighbors come and go
And pride and sham have ceased to be;
The wall where climbing roses grow—
All these and more are home to me.

The dining table set for four;
The merry sound of spoon on plate;
The children clamoring for more
With eyes aglow and hearts elate
The hours when we can be alone
From all life's vain pretentions free,
Where rest and peace and love are known—
All these and more are home to me.

Classes To Open At Westminster

Students To Take Up Work For New Year On Friday Morning

SIX ADDITIONS TO COLLEGE FACULTY

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 16.—With the addition of six new members to the faculty for 1937-38, Westminster college will complete registration during the week, and officially open classes, Friday. The first all-college party of the year, the "All-College Who's Who" is set for Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

New faculty appointments include an entire new coaching staff: head-coach Grover C. Washabaugh, assistant-coach Dick Kelleher, and instructor of health and physical education, Dave Boyd, former Union high coach, New Castle. In the department of economics and business administration, Dr. B. B. Holder of North Carolina replaces Prof. E. T. Miller. Mr. Glenn Taylor, of the University of Iowa, will have charge of speech classes and act as debate coach. An instructor is yet to be named in secretarial science.

In charge of the All-College Who's Who party will be Kenneth Smith, Aliquippa, president of the Y. M. C. A., acting as program chairman; and Isabel Meloy, Washington, representing the Y. W. C. A. cabinet as chairman of the foods committee. Mr. C. T. McNary, Wilmerding Y. M. C. A. secretary, will act as master of ceremonies during the evening. The traditional doughnuts and cider will be served as refreshments.

"Freshman Week" has been considered by the administration as a highly successful experiment. For the past week, freshmen have been attending classes on the campus, getting acquainted, and adapting themselves to their new environment. They will continue their classes without any break on account of upperclass registration. The stated purpose of "Freshman Week" was to give the freshmen a feeling of confidence in themselves and get them adjusted to their college environment before the arrival of upperclassmen on the campus.

Enrollment, according to last predictions, will be approximately the same as last year.

State To Oppose Cornell On Sept. 25

Injuries To Veterans Force Lion Coaches To Lighten Scrimmage

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. Sept. 16.—With the opening game against Cornell Saturday, September 25, Penn State's football team will have its last hard scrimmages this week in preparation for the encounter with the Big Red. Lack of reserve lineman and the fact that two regular forwards are doubtful starters have made it necessary that the work be lightened.

With Co-captain Johnny Economos still in the hospital with a bad knee, the coaching staff has found his guard post to be the chief of their worries. DeMarino, veteran tackle, may also be forced to the sidelines on account of injury.

Frank Sills or Joe Peel will take care of the other guard post, both inexperienced under big game competition. Dave Nemeth, husky sophomore, is Higgins choice to replace the ailing DeMarino. The remainder of the positions in the center of the line are ably taken care of by Dud Enders, center; Tor Toretti, guard; and Dean Hanley, tackle. Barantovich is a fixture at one end. Grover Washabaugh, up from the freshman and Carl Waugaman and Carl Waugaman, senior letterman are battling for the other terminal.

Higgins will try out two complete backfields against Cornell. One combination includes Harry Harrison at quarterback; Joe Metro at fullback; Lloyd Ickes and Tony Giannantonio, halfbacks. Ickes, only sophomore in the group, is displaying so much versatility that it will be an impossibility to keep him off the varsity. Metro's experience gives him the call over Dick Skemp, 200 pound sophomore star.

The other set of backs is made up of Patrick at quarter, Sam Donato and Ewalt at the halves; and the aforementioned Skemp at full. This backfield averages around 180 pounds, while the first quarter barely goes over 165.

Rabbit Wear, 135 pound midget quarter is still the best passer on the squad. Too light for full time duty, he will undoubtedly see a good bit of action this season.

Apple Harvest And Storage Periods

State Lists Harvest Periods And Length Of Time Apples Will Keep

HARRISBURG, Sept. 16.—Normal harvest periods of the principal varieties of Pennsylvania apples were reported today by J. Hansell French, secretary of agriculture. The five varieties with the harvest dates and length of time they may be kept in storage are as follows:

Stayman, September 20 to October 25; common storage, two to three months; cold storage, four to six months.

Constitution Talk Is Kiwanis Feature

Pittsburgh Academy Officer Heard Wednesday; Students Hear Him

Speaking on "The United States Constitution," a very fitting subject for a week in which falls the 150th anniversary of its formal adoption, Charles F. Westfall, treasurer of The Pittsburgh Academy in Pittsburgh, told New Castle Kiwanians yesterday of the history and development of that document.

Mr. Westfall, who spoke later in the afternoon to students of Ben Franklin Junior high school, was introduced to the Kiwanians by Mayor Charles E. McGrath of Kiwanis' public affairs committee.

The speaker praised the founders of the American democracy and lauded the constitution.

United States to make a more voluble protest. A British protest would not do much good, for the British fleet is occupied with the Fascist powers in the Mediterranean. The American fleet is in the Pacific.

But would a voluable protest stop Japan? Hardly.

The Fascist nations of Europe have not been stopped even by threats of actual counter-action. Any voluble protest to an Italy, a Germany, a Franco, or a Japan, would have to be backed up by actual warfare — and that is the last thing in the world the democratic nations desire.

WHAT THEN?

Shall the Fascists, then, be permitted to despoil one country after another?

Hardly. But the Fascist nations may collapse of their own accord. Their people, seeing other countries at peace and living an unrestricted life, a life of higher standards, themselves may overturn their own Fascist regimes and convert their governments to democracy.

That may be an illusion. But this is no illusion—if one should war against a Fascist nation, the peoples of that nation would solidify behind their government. The government of Fascist nations control all the means of communication to the people, and a nation simply would be playing into their hands by taking precipitate action against them.

But there are other means of stopping the Fascist nations, means that such wealthy nations as Great Britain and the United States have—the determination to undergo a momentary economic pinch through refusal to grant credits to and to sell or to exchange goods with combatants.

If the president should invoke the neutrality act and could include in its provisions an absolute embargo on munitions and raw materials, the terrible conflagration in Asia may die down for want of fuel. Japan and China both would "suffer" for the moment, but their people might thank us in after years.

say, "My wife still loves me." You can say, "Now I'll discover for myself just how strong I really am. I'll see if I can endure as old Job did—and complain a good deal less than he."

You can whistle in the dark and make a few observations about what fine weather we are having and last night you heard the wild geese flying south and what fine colors there are on the autumn trees.

Of course, if you whistle in the dark someone is almost sure to come your way and remind you that is just what you are doing—and tell you there ought to be a law against Whistling in the Dark.

Take my word for it, that's what will happen. But it's better to be whistling in the dark than to be sucking on a lemon. And who can deny that a whistle makes a cheerful noise in the center of the gloom?

Grocers' Group Meets Council

Group of members of the Retail Food Dealers and Grocers met informally with Mayor Charles E. McGrath and council yesterday afternoon at city hall relative to a proposed bill that council set closing hours for the establishments.

They were informed of Solicitor William D. Cobau's opinion, given council some time ago that council would have no legal right to take such action. However, they pointed out that they figured such a move would be a good thing.

Council said they had to view the situation from differkent angles No action toward passing the bill was taken as council was not in session.

APPRECIATION

While I cannot honestly say that the returns in Tuesday's Republican primary for Register and Recorder were as satisfying as I had hoped, I would be ungrateful if I did not express my appreciation for the loyalty of my friends and the voters who expressed their preference for me.

I will always appreciate the efforts put forth in my behalf. I congratulate Orville Potter, the winner, and wish to say that I am still a Republican.

New Hour Law Causes Changes In Wage Scale

School Board Takes Action On Matter At Meeting Last Night

Some adjustments in the rate of wages for women employed in the cafeterias of the New Castle schools were made Wednesday night at the meeting of the board. Rates of 40 and 30 cents per hour were set as the scale which means a slight increase for the women and adds about $388 per year to the cost of operating the school cafeterias.

Women employed as janitresses also got an adjustment in their wages in that they were put on a thirty cent hourly base instead of a monthly wage, and their hours cut to 44 per week to conform to the new law. In some cases the adjustments will mean less money for the women employed but also less hours.

Merle McIntosh appeared before the school board and in behalf of the Slippery Rock State Teachers College asked for permission to use Taggart Field for a night practice on Wednesday September 22. This is preparation for a game between Slippery Rock and West Chester in Philadelphia on September 24. The board granted the permission providing the college pays the light bill and assumes any damage incurred and pays janitor fees.

Boiler insurance was ordered provided to cover all vessels in use by the schools to comply with the new boiler act of the state. Previously only high pressure boilers were covered. Now everything must be covered.

Two Resignations Given To Board

School Teachers Leave Positions In City, Board Is Informed

Two resignations of teachers were accepted Wednesday night by the New Castle school board. Miss Doris Shenkan resigned as a teacher in the W. N. Aiken school. The reason is marriage. W. Graham Patterson resigned as a teacher in Washington Junior high school to accept a position in Pittsburgh.

Following a new school act the board voted to purchase 1,000 copies of the flag code for distribution to students in the eighth grade.

Dr. C. C. Green was authorized to attend the meeting of all district superintendents in the state in Harrisburg on September 22 and 23.

Vouchers were ordered drawn for the payment of bills amounting to $7,727.32.

Delay Awarding Coal Contract For Schools

All coal bids which had been opened by the New Castle school board at its July meeting were ordered rejected Wednesday night, September 15, when the board held its regular meeting in the Administration building. New bids will be advertised, and the board will reserve the right to purchase the winter supply of coal from more than one dealer.

The decision was reached after over an hour's argument between board members and coal dealers. The question arose when the coal committee tossed the matter of letting the contract back into the lap of the board as a whole with a report containing two alternatives, one to have the board award contracts last night, and the other to reject all bids and re-advertise.

Asks Purpose

When the report was read, President Daniel B. Woolcock asked "why was there a second proposal included in the report?" To this Duff replied that the committee was not unanimous in its findings and that Mr. Hyde could explain the matter. Previously it was understood that the committee was going to recommend that the bid be let in four contracts to dealers selling a certain kind of coal.

Said A. C. Hyde: "There is some question in my mind concerning the legality of letting a contract in four pieces when the advertisement was for a bid for 4,000 tons of coal. I believe the bid should go to one dealer."

Said J. H. McIlvenny: "I understand that the bid of Maxwell and Gibson saves us several hundred dollars and yet the committee wants to split the bid four ways. If we split it four ways this year we'll be asked to split it many more ways next year."

Said Clyde M. Whittaker: "How do we know which is the best coal to buy? How do the janitors know? There is only one way of determining what coal is best and that is find out the pounds of steam per pound of coal we are getting. The only person capable of determining that is an expert who is qualified to make such tests. I have suggested to the board before that we employ such a man to make the tests and I still believe it would be a good thing."

Moves Award

Mr. McIlvenny then moved that the board award the contract to Maxwell and Gibson. Before a vote could be taken, Ivor V. Davis, president of the New Castle Feed and Coal Company, asked if he could be heard in the matter. He was granted permission.

"Last year," said Mr. Davis, "this board awarded a contract for coal that was twenty cents per ton above the low bid. This was for Library coal as against Y. & O. coal. The reason was that the board thought the better grade of coal was the cheapest in the end. This year there is a differential of only sixteen cents and if the opinion of the board last year was a good one, then it seems logical to assume that that opinion is still good. We all want this business, of course. Speaking for my concern, let me say that we have been in business since 1898 and in all the years intervening we have never received a contract for one pound of coal from this board. And I expect our taxes are as high as any other dealer."

As Davis finished James Gibson asked similar permission which was granted. "The bid last year was let as it was to give the board an opportunity to find out whether or not a better grade of coal would save tonnage at the end of the year. It didn't, actually more coal was consumed." Gibson then went into a detailed discussion concerning grade of coal, BTU units, ash and sulphur content and ended by saying that his company should be given the bid as it was the lowest bid offered."

Washed And Unwashed

Chester C. Sweezy spoke briefly and said that one difference between coal his company offered and other bids was that it was washed coal, whereas the cheaper bids were for unwashed coal. "There is no comparison between the two grades of coal," said Sweezy.

Superintendent of Building and Grounds S. G. Ligo was asked by the board which was better coal and he replied that washed coal was the best in his opinion.

A vote on the motion was called and was defeated. Duff, Jackson and Thomas voted no on the proposal to award the bid to Maxwell and Gibson. McIlvenny, Hyde and Woolcock voted yes, and Cleland, Hazen and Whittaker refused to vote on the grounds that they were not informed enough as to the relative merits of the coal in question. The motion fell.

Duff then moved to reject all bids and readvertise for bids, the board to reserve the right to let the bids in blocks of 1,000 tons or more.

Whittaker then moved that the board employ a consulting engineer to determine the relative merits of the coals offered and this was done.

(International News Service)

CELINA, O., Sept. 16.—Miss Ida Now, Washington township school teacher, really is seeing double.

She has four sets of twins in her 40-pupil school. But she is fortunate in one respect. No two sets are in the same grade.

The Powell twins, Jack and Jerry, six, are in the first grade; Evelyn and Donald Fleming, seven, are in the second grade; Harry and Harold Linn, 12, study in the sixth grade, and Paul and Pauline Miesse, 14, are in the seventh grade.

Cake, With 1,000 Pieces, Goes To Needy Youngsters After Display At The News

On a neat table inside the window of The News business office today rested a 153-pound fruit cake, about the most tempting delicious looking sight you'd ever want to see—and at the end of this week it's going directly into the hands of the neediest youngsters of the community!

You know how wild-eyed a kid gets when he looks at any cake and so you need no imagination to picture their roars of delight when one capable of producing 1,000 pieces shows up.

And this one can turn out 1,000 pieces—good sized pieces!

Empolyes Donate It

It's an Electrolux birthday cake, the gift to New Castle's needy tots from the employes and officers of the Manufacturers Light and Heat company in the New Castle and Ellwood City districts. These employes won two of them—they'll feast on one Saturday night at a 10th birthday party in the Ellwood City Country Club and let the kids enjoy the other.

"We want boys and girls who are needy to get it," said Forbes W. Burdette, head of the gas company office here, when he turned the giant cake over this morning to J. F. Rentz, general manager of The News. "Our employes worked hard to win it."

Meanwhile, visitors to The News office admired the cake and licked their tongues at the sight of it.

"What a cake!" one passerby said. "That's what I call a cake."

Going To Institutions

Mr. Rentz said he was making arrangements for distributing the cake to certain local institutions where youngsters will share it. In his possession he had a sheet of instructions as to how to go about cutting it. The directions insisted it was an art.

Competing in an American Gas Association contest with many other gas company units, the New Castle and Ellwood City districts of the Manufacturers Light and Heat concern won first place in the United States in their respective classes for installing the greatest number of Electrolux units per hundred meters during the past year.

The victory itself will be celebrated by the employes at the Ellwood Country Club dinner Saturday evening.

But a lot of appreciative youngsters will also share the victory in a most appetizing way. Both cakes were made by Schrafft's, famed cake makers.

Horseplay To Be Barred, Vets Say

Gigantic Party Planned For Legionairres In New York City

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Legionnaires arriving today for the annual convention of the American Legion next week assured officials that horseplay will be barred in the extra-curricular activities of the veterans following each day's business session.

Hurling pillows from hotel windows and throwing javelins from the top of the Empire State building will be strictly "out," the boys said, explaining "we are getting a little older each year and a little grayer at the temples."

Arrival of the larger contingents from the various states was expected to really begin tomorrow, headed by Mississippi's motorcade of 1,400. In all, 39 special trains are scheduled to arrive between Saturday night and Sunday morning.

A gigantic party will be held for the Legionnaires in Madison Square Garden on the night of September 22. Actors, dancers, clowns and comedians will entertain the doughboys, and Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion, will stage a boxing show.

Daniel J. Doherty, of Woburn, Mass., set up headquarters here today. Some observers believe he and Ray Kelly of Detroit, will figure in a neck-and-neck race for national commander.

Hotel room gossip seemed to favor Los Angeles as the convention city next year.

According to Meek's wife, who filed petition for divorce in common pleas court, her husband barged into a confectionery where she works and tossed a customer into the street.

That certainly was no way for a husband to act, Mrs. Meeks charged, especially toward a customer.

Resignation Of Black Favored

President's Advisers Believe New Justice Should Quit Office

BLACK AT PRESENT TOURING EUROPE

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—Prompt resignation of Justice Hugo L. Black from the supreme court was favored today by President Roosevelt's closest advisers. They said this is the only effective method for ending the national controversery over charges the Alabaman is a life member of the Ku Klux Klan.

Justice Black will return to America around October 1, from a European vacation. No action is anticipated until after he confers with Mr. Roosevelt, since the president is withholding "judgement," until he hears the justices' own explanation of his association with the "invisible empire."

The president's advisers were demanding Black's resignation because they felt he placed Mr. Roosevelt in a false light by failing to disclose his Klan connections prior to his appointment to the supreme court, if such connections actually existed.

The demand for Black's retirement was based on two grounds. One was that the Klan charges have so "tarred" Black as to impair his impartial service on the court. The other is that his continued service, under this "tarring" would inject the Klan issue into both the 1938 and 1940 elections, an outcome no Democrat relishes after the defeat of Alfred E. Smith in the 1928 election.

THOUSANDS OF CHINESE KILLED IN JAP ADVANCE

have almost obtained their objectives, either by cutting the Chinese off from their railroads or by forcing a general retreat toward the south.

Destroy Troop Trains

Japanese airplanes, it was claimed, destroyed two Chinese troop trains and bombed the town of Chochow, 50 miles southwest of Peiping.

Eight Chinese divisions were reported retreating in disorderly fashion toward their base at Paotingfu, harried as they ran by aerial bombardments.

One Japanese official claimed the advance has reached a depth of 10 miles, with the Nipponese left wing sweeping to the west and attempting to drive the Chinese against the Japanese right wing advancing from Lianghsian.

May Annihilate All

If this strategy succeeds, the Chinese may be caught in a deadly cross-fire that might annihilate them to a man.

Japanese planes, according to reports to headquarters here, flew over Chinese irregulars concentrated along the Peiping-Hankow and Tientsin-Pukow railways, dropping pamphlets urging them to retreat south of Lake Paiyangtien in the center of Hopei Province.

The pamphlets declared the Japanese want to fight Chinese central government troops, not irregulars.

In addition, the Japanese claimed they had completed encirclement of Chochow and had heavily bombed Paoting, setting fire to all military establishments there.

They declared they had captured half a million rounds of ammunition and 5,000 hand grenades at Tatungfu and had raided and reduced to ashes the Chinese military works at Taiyuan.

Will Investigate Previous Records Of All Contractors

State Authority To Look Into Responsibility Of Men Seeking Awards

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 16. — The General State Authority, it was announced today, will investigate the previous records and financial responsibility of contractors before awards are made on the eighty projects of its $65,000,000 institutional building program.

The authority disclosed this precaution was being taken in view of PWA time limits set for completion of each project.

"The penalties for work not completed within the time limit can prove extremely costly as PWA may refuse further grants after the expiration of the date set for finishing the job", Director A. S. Janeway said.

Janeway said all efforts to have PWA relax this stricture failed.

"We can't afford to take chances on losing hundreds of thousands of dollars to the authority", Janeway said. "For instance, if a building were $300,000 behind completion when the PWA limit expired and we get no extension of time, the state would stand to lose $45,000 on that job."

Crowd At Outing Of 'Alley Rats'

Day Of Frolic Draws 80 To Muddy Creek Camp For 22nd Reunion

Maintaining excellent attendance records of old, the "Alley Rats"—that talked-about organization of former New Castle high school athletic stars—gathered Wednesday at Camp Ne-Ca-Hi, senior high's football training camp, for their 22nd annual reunion. Close to 80 shared the fun.

The weather was ideal, and the Muddy Creek Falls district echoed with whoops of one-time New Castle gridiron and baseball heroes. All afternoon they romped in their favorite sports, or romped as ruggedly as they dared.

Prominent members came from neighboring states to join for the day their "buddies" of an earlier day. The affair, like all Alley Rat outings, resembled a good old-fashioned family reunion

The day was just like every reunion day—sports in the afternoon and a feast at night. After dinner came an informal meeting and social session.

Guests from a distance included Dale Hill, Milwaukee; Herman Hildebrand, Newark, N. J., brother of former Judge R. L. Hildebrand; Paul Mosly, Canton, O.; Ferdinand Griffiths, Cleveland; Howard Coughlan, Donora, and others.

In the election Frank "Fritz" Harlan was chosen president again. Others re-elected were W. J. Connery, vice president; Earl "Cappy" Harlan, secretary, and Edward J. Connery, treasurer.

Edwina Connery Is To Depart Tonight

Local Girl Scout To Represent Pennsylvania At Massachusettes Fair

Miss Edwina Connery of Crescent avenue, one of New Castle's leading Girl Scouts, will depart tonight on a journey to Springfield, Mass., where she will be one of two Girl Scouts representing Pennsylvania at the Eastern States Exposition, an agricultural and textile fair.

This is a signal honor that has been bestowed upon the local miss and all her friends are very proud of the fact. Her expenses will be paid from the time she boards the train tonight until she returns in a week. She will be a guest of Mrs. James Storrow, wealthy owner of "Storrowtown", long prominent in Girl Scouting, and donor of the international chalet in Switzerland.

At the exposition the Girl Scouts will serve as messengers, and be helpful in numerous small ways.

Immediately afterwards the local young lady plans to enter Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh.

Two Resign In Revenue Bureau

Disagree With Morgenthau Over "Department Policy" It Is Stated

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announced today that Morrison Shafroth has resigned as general counsel of the internal revenue bureau because of a disagreement with him over a "department policy"

The resignation of Russel J. Ryan, assistant to Shafroth, also was announced by Morgenthau.

Shafroth and Ryan were the men called upon by the Treasury to make the preliminary investigation into millionaire tax dodgers last year.

Neither appeared before the House ways and means committee to testify in the Treasury's behalf.

Both will leave Saturday. Shafroth will return to Denver, his home, to resume the private practice of law. Ryan, a former justice on the Indiana superior court, will return to Indianapolis.

Work On Robe For Justice Black

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—While the controversy over the appointment of Justice Hugo L. Black to the supreme court rages, workmen in Albany, N. Y., are busy preparing the black silk robe for him to wear on the bench.

The order for the robe was placed by Justice Black with the firm of Cottrell and Leonard of Albany, before the new member of the court sailed for Europe.

This firm has been making robes for the court for close to half a century. The robes cost from $55 to $85.

Justice Black's order was not placed with the Washington representative of the firm, but went directly to Albany.

R. C. Cather To Attend Westfield Laymen Conference

Kell-Known Member Of Mahoning Methodist Will Represent Church

Plans have been made by R. C. Cather, a member of the Mahoning Methodist church, to leave Friday morning for Westfield, N. Y., to attend the annual conference now being held there.

Cather will represent his church at the special laymen's conference which will be in session on Friday and Saturday. This well-known member of the congregation has been a member of this church for about 20 years, and was elected as church delegate at a recent meeting.

Complete Job On Turntable In Ward Shop

Giant Turntable Is Lowered Into Position Wednesday After Repairs

At the close of working hours Wednesday, the locomotive turntable in the Pennsylvania railroad shops in the Seventh ward, was again back in place after having under gone extensive repairs.

The 245,000 pound table was fitted with new trucks, new motors and a new control house. All of the tracks leading to the table from the "round house" were raised to meet the height of the new trucks.

According to the railroad officials the new trucks will now do away with all "jiggle" formerly encountered when the engine hit and ran across the table.

All of the latest of turntable equipment is now in place on the local table and will be good for many years to come.

Visits Scenes Of Revolution

McIntyre Feels Awed In Presence Of So Much Of Yesterday

SCREEN KEEPS BEAUTY INTACT

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—From Nyack up the Hudson the other day I motored along part of the delightful stretch of the Tappan Zee that Washington Irving so beglamoured. Still the flavor of revolutionary days. Especially at an old tavern at which we stopped.

O. O. McIntyre

A tavern that boasted the very table on which Washington signed away the life of Andre. Also the "original bar," which was doing middling well with trade. There was indeed a bit too much bluster in the presence of so much of yesterday—a presence really calling for bowed heads.

Too, I wandered among the old red and scabrous gravestones of a little white church, etched against a perfect sky. And noting the stones recorded the passing of innumerable octogenerians and there was the wonder if, after all, the doctors are lengthening life today.

Too, I talked to a sturdy young man on the roadside who said he was from Pleasantville and was on his way to Sneeden's Landing. There was something poetic about those names. Names that a hurrying civilization should not allow to die. Like Dobbs Ferry, they suggest a simple life we may never know again.

The screen is never so disillusioning for the popular star as is the legitimate theatre. The cinema art of make-up can keep a star at pulchritudinous pair for years. But the footlights, no matter the artifices, reveal all. I saw a glamorous stage star after ten years the other night. In spite of the beauty parlors and such, she had moved on to a certain autumn quietude. She tried to be kittenish and express the old come-thither, but it wouldn't jell. Ladies rarely learn Nature's lesson from the plum thicket that blooms at the roadside and the dried leaves that stir in the November winds and the aches and pains of the Old People's Home. That lesson is that the Sweet Sixteen role can be played but once and briefly in the drama of life. It cannot be carried through the years.

Joe Moore, newspaper and magazine publisher, who passed on a month or so ago, had what many regarded as the town's most contagious laugh. He was of enormous build, and when his round moon-face rippled into a setting for a roaring guffaw no one in the neighborhood could keep a straight face. He had a roar that shook the rafters and often touched off a solemn dining room in a whoop. Moore died exactly as he wished. He often said he would like to go out just like falling to sleep after enjoying a full meal. He had dined sumptuously at one of his favorite restaurants and was descending to the street when he slumped on the stairs, expiring before a doctor in the place could reach him.

Booth Tarkington is one of the few top flight writers able to check writing for several years, return to it and turn out stuff as good as ever. His failing eyesight, now almost normal, has on three occasions kept him from writing for long periods. During these convalescences he never wrote a line, but in each case when he started again editors declared he was just as capable in plotting, character delineation and dialogue as ever. He is brushing the 70's.

Theodore Roosevelt was said to be swiftest of readers among laymen. He could scan an entire page almost at a glance, although his eyes were weak and he had to wear heavy-lensed glasses. Chief Justice Holmes was also able to digest a typewritten page as others read five or six lines. Most magazine editors are block readers. Harry Burton can riffle through a manuscript while talking to the author, and intelligently discuss the plot.

The air is full of sobs and moans

For a million bleating baritones
Are yearning tonight of You!

Noted Here And There In Other Newspapers

A green rookie patrolman at Atlanta, Ga., was red-faced today and it wasn't the heat, it was the humility. All because of an amber traffic light. "It's stuck and won't change color," he reported to headquarters. The trouble crew rushed out and found the light blinking dutifully. They informed the embarrassed patrolman the light was merely a caution signal and wasn't supposed to change to red and green.

Twenty long years is a mighty long time and so no wonder Mrs. William Hutchins, of Fremont, O., is finding it difficult to be reconciled to a very apparent fact. For 20 years she thought her parrot was a male, but on August 20 she found an egg in his-her-cage. Mrs. Hutchins couldn't believe it, thought her husband was trying to play a joke on her, so "Polly" laid another one.

Squire William B. Brown, of Beaver, after officiating at the marriage of Zelda McVay and Clyde McCracken, sighed and said: "I don't want a fee—just a headache powder." The squire was still a bit dizzy from unraveling the events that led to the marriage at which Walter Welsh, McCracken's rival for Zelda's hand, was best man, and Ralph Welsh, a brother who halted the wedding on the day before, was a witness. During the three days' wait between making application for a license and being married, the pert waitress was a busy young lady. First she was allegedly "kidnapped" by a jealous suitor, Walter Welsh, and upon her return charged him with assault and battery. Then Welsh's brother came before the squire and made objection to the proposed marriage because, he claimed, the girl was already married and had a child. But just before the squire was ready to pass out, everything ended happily.

Though ignorance is considered no excuse in the eyes of the law, a court at Tipperary, in the Irish Free State, dismissed John O'Meara, farmer charged with possession of an unlicensed shotgun, when he said he had never heard of: a shotgun license, the abdication of King Edward VIII of England, the World War, the Irish Free State or its president, Eamon de Valera, the Black and Tan rebellion, or President Franklin D. Roosevelt of the United States. O'Meara said he always "minded my own business" and never read newspapers.

Hunting Posters To Be Displayed In Post Office

Will Inform Hunters As To Season And Other Regulations Governing Duck Hunting

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16.—The New Castle post office will soon display a poster informing hunters as to the season and other regulations governing hunting of ducks and other migratory birds in the various states.

The posters are now being prepared by the United States Biological Survey for the convenience of sportsmen. They will be distributed to Postmaster Steen of New Castle and other postmasters with instructions they be posted in a prominent place. Many hunters consult the posters each year while buying migratory bird hunting stamps, which are on sale at post offices at $1 each, the Biological Survey reports.

The posters will list opening dates in various states of the 30-day duck hunting season, bag limits, and other regulations. Seasons on rails, gallinules, woodcock, doves and band-tailed pigeons will also be listed.

AROUND CITY HALL

There are forty-two members of the department of police, five of whom are serving in the capacity of a temporary officer. However, due to the state law which makes it compulsory for each policeman to have one day of rest in every seven, there actually are 37 men on duty every 24 hours unless sickness lowers this number. One of the duties of the police is to guard crossings at schools. Officers now escort children to and fro at Mahoning school, Lincoln-Garfield school, St. Marys, North street school and also at the intersection of East Washington and Pearson streets and Norwood and Highland avenues.

When Mayor Charles E. McGrath returned from the celebration in honor of the one hundred and fiftieth signing of the Constitution, he brought with him a pen, the wood of which came from the elm tree which stands in front of Independence hall, at Philadelphia. Immediately above the pen point the pen is encircled with silver which reads: '150th anniversary of the Constitution, 1787-1937, made from the elm 172 years in Independence square and used in the signing of the register." Mayor McGrath used the pen to register. He said that each mayor received as a souvenir the pen used to register.

Joseph D. Alexander, renominated on the Republican ticket for council, took a long sleep yesterday morning. Many of his friends called at his office to wish him congratulations. Councilman B. F. Butler, who lost the nomination, was on the job and when he received word he had been beaten for the nomination by former Mayor William H. Dunlap, took his defeat in a very sportsmanlike manner, saying when informed of the vote result: "Well, that's that."

ORDER TREES FOR SPRING PLANTING

HARRISBURG, Sept. 16.—Although the season for spring planting is still months away, Deputy Secretary W. J. B. Winters of the Department of Forests and Waters today said that state nurseries have already received orders for more than 3,000,000 trees from private planters in Pennsylvania for use in 1938.

The supply of hemlock, Norway spruce and white pine, transplants, and European larch seedlings, is already exhausted, it was stated. However, ample supplies of red pine and white spruce transplants are available, as are red pine, white pine, white spruce, Norway spruce, banks pine, Scotch pine, pitch pine, Jersey scrub pine, white ash, sugar maple, black walnut, black locust and red oak seedlings, it was announced.

Hunt Bodies In Factory Fire Ruin In New Jersey

Fear Fatalities Among Workers

No Known Dead; But Firemen Were Unable To Enter Building

EXPLOSIONS ARE HEARD IN BLAZE

(International News Service)

WEEHAWKEN, N. J., Sept. 16.—One thousand WPA workers were to search the ruins of the S. B. Penick Drug Company's factory today to determine whether any of the 150 girl employes perished when fire and a series of explosions destroyed the plant yesterday.

As a series of terrific explosions rocked the neighborhood and the flames spread rapidly over a mile-square area, girl employes leaped from windows of the plant and fled screaming through the exits with their clothing aflame. Twenty were burned painfully.

Unable To Enter

Helpless to penetrate the sheets of chemically-fed flames, firemen were unable to fight their way into the inferno. A score of fire fighters who attempted to enter were dropped in their tracks and pulled to safety with difficulty.

Although firemen finally brought the blaze under control after a five-hour fight, the heat was so intense that no search of the ruins could be made until the ashes had cooled today.

Nearby tenements caught fire but the residents were saved in spectacular rescues.

Two investigations were under way into the conflagration, cause of which remained a mystery.

BESSEMER HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Assembly last Friday was of a general nature, devoted to an inspirational theme for the opening of the school year. The program was in charge of the principal, G. E. Nord, who introduced Rev. W. J. Engle, pastor of the Bessemer Presbyterian church, and J. C. Syling, county superintendent of schools. Rev. Engle led the devotionals and talked briefly in explanation of his text. Mr. Syling addressed the pupils on the subject of "Success." Announcements for the beginning of the term were made, and directions given for various student activities.

The assembly for Friday, Sept. 17th, (Constitution Day) will be in charge of Mr. Capezzuti. Featuring the day's commemoration will be an address by Hon. Charles R. Eckert, Representative in Congress from this district. The complete program follows:

1. Flag Salute.
2. Devotions.
3. Band number: "Star Spangled Banner."
4. Guitar duet—Roy Vercally and James Mediate.
5. Address—Hon. Charles R. Eckert.
6. America—sung by students, led by high school band.

Mr. Nord and Mr. Hostettler will attend the vocational conference in Butler, Wednesday evening. New developments in vocational education under the George-Deen Act have led to a series of conferences to explain the Act.

The combined high and grade school faculty will hold their annual fall picnic Thursday evening at Mill Creek Park.

A special assembly Friday, Sept. 24th, will feature an impersonator, who will give character renditions of famous persons and events.

Shown movies of himself made by police, the drunk driver admits he was drunk. He is glad of an alibi when he sees how silly he was.

School Heads In Waynesburg Today

County School Heads Attend Meeting To Consider New Legislation

County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling, and Assistant County Superintendent Roy F. Conway, are in Waynesburg today, attending a meeting of the Southwestern Pennsylvania Superintendents Association.

The teachers tenure act and other legislation, affecting the rural school districts of the state, will be discussed at this meeting, which will give a new insight into the provisions of new legislation enacted at the recent session of the state legislature.

Local Youth Completes Nine Years Of Service In U. S. Army

Private First Class John Vervon, who resided at 1009 West State St. has returned to Fort George Meade, Md., following a furlough vacation in New Castle.

Vervon has just completed his ninth year of enlistment in the service and re-enlisted on July 18. Upon his re-enlistment he was granted a leave of absence to return to his home.

Vervon left Wednesday and was to be back at Fort Meade by today.

"He is an ungrateful wretch" usually means: "He wouldn't give me a dollar's worth of gratitude for a dime favor."

Delay Opening Of New Headquarters For Girl Scouting

Because the Girl Scout director, Miss Eleanor LeFevre, is ill at her home in Cumberland, Md., the new headquarters of the New Castle troops, located in room 412 of the Green building, has not been opened as yet.

Miss LeFevre has been quite ill for the past two weeks and probably will not be able to return to her duties until early October.

On Saturday morning of this week, however, the Older Girls troop is planning to gather in the Greer building and put it into shape for opening.

It's the same old story—a Fascist nation violating all rules and rights because others will do nothing but scold.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Nazi Groups Not Alarming

Washington Officials Find Little To Cause Concern Over Matter

FEW GERMANS COME HERE NOW

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Although Uncle Sam's G-men are investigating stories of the existence of a formidable Nazi organization in the United States I cannot discover, from talks with numerous government officials, that these reports are taken very seriously, at least in Washington.

Asinine speeches by Hitlerite leaders in Germany do give the impression that Nazi-dom in its native land is ambitious to gather under its banner folk of Teutonic descent throughout the world.

It does not necessarily follow, however, that any considerable number of our so-called German-Americans are a bit in sympathy with this campaign.

FEW IMMIGRANTS

For one thing, few German immigrants have been arriving in the United States in approximately a generation.

Most citizens of German extraction are sons or grandsons of original settlers on this side of the Atlantic and are as American, except for their inherited family names, as our Smiths, Jonses and Robinsons, our Johnsons and Andersons, our O'Connors and Mulligans and O'Neills.

Moreover, when Germans WERE landing here in droves, they came largely because they were driven from the fatherland by the comparatively mild imperialistic tyranny of olden days. They were among the best liberty-lovers we had. They "fit mit Siegel" in the war of secession. They were the last kind of folk to have anything in common with the oppressions of the Nazi regime. That is the background of our Schmidts and Schwartzes and various "stein" families of today.

INTOLERANCE CYCLES

It is true that this country is susceptible periodically to epidemics of intolerance.

I recall four spells of it.

1. There was the immediately post-Civil war Ku Klux Klan. Perhaps there was an excuse for that. The south, maybe, had to have some sort of extra-governmental authority to deal with peculiar conditions of that era.

2. There were the Know Nothings, a bit before my time. They were "anti" nearly everything. A one time Ohio senator, Allan G. Thurman, was identified with it. Later he was prominently mentioned as a presidential possibility. But, meanwhile, Know Nothing-ism had "busted". All rational voters turned thumbs down on anyone who ever had anything to do with Know Nothing-ism. So that finished Allan G.

3. Then followed the American Protective association—anti-Catholic. It contended that, every time a Catholic child was born, a rifle was deposited in the basement of his family's parish church, in anticipation of a "Roman uprising".

4. At last there was a revival, with no excuse whatever, of the earlier Ku Klux Klan. That was recent. We all know its history. It, also, fizzled.

NAZI TALK

Now we have this Nazi talk.

The Nazis, as we know, primarily are anti-Jewish; secondarily anti-Catholic.

They have "blood purges". They have concentration camps.

They talk like "damphools", which wouldn't matter, but that they're so dangerous also.

MERELY A PASSING PHASE

It is to be expected that a philosophy like this would spread to a few in the United States—to the type of voters who supported the old and the new Ku Klux, the Know Nothings and the A. P. A.

But, if it does gain a temporary foothold, I predict that it will not last long.

It will go flooey presently, like the Know Nothings, the A. P. A. and the Klux.

I do not believe our so-called German-Americans are appreciably interested in it, either. Nor do I believe that it merits much investigation by our G-men.

It is just a false alarm.

MAN INJURED

Dale Gilmore, of Mt. Jackson, received a bad injury to his head while working at his home. His oldest boy went upon the roof to remove some brick and slate from the top of the chimney; he threw several bricks down, his father thinking he had finished, stooped down to pick the brick up when the boy threw another brick, hitting his father on the top of the head, and inflicting a large wound. Ten stitches were required to close the wound. It is not known yet whether he skull is fractured or not.

The county commissioners have each received from the Pennsylvania Historical commission a replica of Independence Hall at Philadelphia. The replicas are made of plaster paris and were executed by WPA workers. They are about three feet long and eighteen inches high to the top of the tower, where the Liberty Bell is hung. On one side of the base are the figures 1787 and on the other 1937, the former marking the date when the constitution was signed in the historic building.

There were some sleepy heads among the county officials who stayed up all night Tuesday to receive the election returns at the Lawrence county court house. Those present at the wake were chief clerk to the county commissioners, William A. Eakin, registration clerk, Thomas Edmunds; county treasurer, Joseph H. Hartland, and county controller, Frank Hill. County Commissioner George Bolinger was up the greater part of the night, but went home when he found the country was safe. Janitor Clifford James was also among those present at the night watch. This was the first time in the history of the county that it has been necessary to keep the county commissioners office open all night to receive election returns. Not all of the boards reported as required by the new law, but some came in during Wednesday forenoon.

Wide divergence of sentiment in the two districts of Plaingrove township is shown by the ballots on the local option question submitted on Tuesday. In the northern district where the mines are located there was quite a large "wet" vote. On the question as to whether or not the voters favored a license for the consumption of beverages on the premises, there were 67 who voted "yes" against 41 who voted, "no." On the question of the sale of liquor 67 voted "yes" and 67 "no." In Plaingrove first district the vote on the first question stood 10 "yes" and 128 "no." On the second question the vote was 13, "yes" and 130 "no." The totals on the first question were 77 "yes" to 169 "no" and on the second question, 79 "yes" to 197 "no."

Return sheets of the election showed that all of the voters who were given party tickets, voted their straight party ticket. There were names of Republican candidates written in on Democratic tickets, and Democratic names on Republican tickets.

Constables had their first experience in serving without pay at Tuesday's primary. Only a few of them appointed deputies, and as there is no provision for paying the deputies, they had to serve for nothing after being approved by the court. Under the new law the sheriff is supposed to look after any trouble that may arise in the country districts, and the police of the city, while the constables in both the city and county are supposed to spend their time visiting the different polling places. No serious trouble of any kind developed at the polling places.

In the estate of the late Joseph L. Uhl a motion to continue an order of sale until the first Monday of December has been granted by the court. Sale of a hotel property on West Washington street is involved. Several attempts have been made to sell it, but the price offered has been considered too low.

Upon a petition presented to court by Mrs. Florence Ridenbaugh, the Lawrence Savings and Trust company has been appointed guardian for her minor son, Richard Lewis McConahy.

Upon a petition presented to court by Attorney William K. Hugus, executor in the estate of Emma E. Smith, the sale of a property in the Fifth ward has been continued until the first Monday of December. An undivided one-fifth interest in a property on East Washington street, belonging to the estate has been sold to Della B. Raney.

Under the will of the late John Thomas Glenn of the Second ward, which has been probated at the register and recorder's office, decedent left his property to his two sons, George Pearson Glenn and Fred Atkinson Glenn, share and share alike.

County commissioners will meet tomorrow at noon to make the official count of the ballots cast at Tuesday's primary election. The counting is to be done in the Welfare building, 427 Court street. Candidates or their representatives may be present while the count is being made, should they so desire. The counting is usually done in one of the court rooms, but they are in use this week.

Making the grade

GROWING children with an abundance of energy usually do make the grade . . . and with ease.

Every thoughtful mother recognizes this fact . . . mothers know too that children need help to build and maintain blood strength.

Particularly is this true with those who have suffered some illness or who look pale . . . tire easily . . . are underweight or have lost their zest for food.

S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed to build-up children's health through the red-blood-cells, thus putting them in better condition to enjoy the food they eat and to regain lost weight . . . all which make for strength and vitality.

Help your child to "make the grade" by starting him or her on a course of S.S.S. Tonic now. There is no substitute for this time-tested remedy and no ethical druggist will suggest something "just as good."

New Castle Plays Butler Friday Night

BUTLER MAY RESORT TO 'RAZZLE DAZZLE'

Visitors Laying Back With "Deluxe" Attack For Coming Battle

BUTLER ELEVEN SHAPING UP WELL

Bridenbaugh Busy Getting Squad In Shape; Game To Start At 8 O'Clock

Faced with one of the smallest gridiron teams in the past decade, Mr. Regis Heinzer, foxy mentor of Butler high school, has salted away a deluxe attack which he will employ against the Red Hurricane machine of of New Castle high Friday night at Taggart stadium.

Like the squirrels who store away nuts for the days when the weatherman dishes out his blanket of snow and harsh winds, our genial neighbor will probably show the fans that popular type of football—"razzle dazzle". This style of football antics sent the grid fans wild when Ohio State introduced it.

The system called for a number of clever plays that are a treat from the grandstand . Butler. Butler has the right kind of gridders behind the wall—"a pony backfield". Realizing that New Castle will outweigh his proteges, Heinzer will endeavor to overcome this handicap by a speedy play brand of football. From sources which can not be mentioned, the Butlerites are reported to be in excellent form. Friend Mr. Eavesdropper stated that the neighbors have a repertoire of intricate plays which may catch the Red Hurricane off-guard.

Aside from having a good offensive, a team of 11 hard fighters, Butler also has an airtight defense. Rimersburg, 11 veterans strong, failed to score. DeFoggi, Novak and Penar, who made it rather rough last season for the New Castle gridders, will be here again. Around these lads, and Kramer, an impressive fullback, centers the attack. Even if Heinzer does not present his "razzle dazzle" stuff, fans are sure to see a heady ball club with lots of fight, one with plenty of co-ordination and a good offense.

Locals Busy.

The New Castle football factory at Taggart stadium hums with activity as Coach Bridenbaugh and his assistants whip the squad into condition for the coming tussle. Following the disappointing showing of the regulars Tuesday, Coach Bridenbaugh ordered his charges thru another intensive session yesterday. The local mentor will likely resort to the straight football system in the hope of chalking up the second win of the season.

Lineup Same.

The starting lineup will in all probability be the same as that which polished off Har-Brack. Nocera and Carey will handle the end posts with Roussos and MacNeill returning to their tackle berths and Updegraff will occupy the center spot. Deep and Dombroski are again slated for the guard positions. The backfield will see Walter Palkovitch at quarter, Sovesky and Micaletti at half and Frankie Copple at fullback.

"Bud" Fraser, who is giving Carey the fight of his life for the end post, is all set to jump into the game. Hawkey, another good looking prospect, is trailing Updegraff for the center berth. Jim Howley, injured for the past week or more, is set for action.

The biggest crowd to ever watch a New Castle-Butler clash is anticipated. Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner stated that approximately 1,400 tickets have been sent to the visitors who plan using everyone of them. The floodlights will be turned on shortly before 7 and the starting whistle is slated for 8 o'clock.

Yankees Split With Cleveland

Feller Routed But Seems To Have Reached Stardom; Giants, Cubs Win

WHITE SOX TRIM LEFTY GROVE, 5-3

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Baseball people seem to be unanimously convinced that Bob Feller finally has attained one of the few essentials he lacked to become a great pitcher, and they are saying now that as early as next season the 18-year-old Iowa farm boy figures to reach stardom.

From the day last season when he first hit the major leagues he had everything except poise and experience and he proved yesterday before a crowd of 42,000 that thru the ups and downs of a turbulent season he has achieved the poise of a veteran. Perhaps he also has acquired sufficient experience by now.

Routed In Eighth.

At any rate, he paid no heed to the yelling thousands packed into Yankee stadium and, quite mechanically, fanned eight Yanks and pitched shutout ball for seven innings. They got him out of there with a four-run blast in the eighth but that also has happened to older and wiser pitchers than he when opposed by the bombers. He really looked cool and capable.

When he left the scene under the barrage, Mel Harder came to the mound and effectively held the Yanks in check the rest of the way to enable the Indians to win by 5 to 4 in 10 innings, after which the Yankees took the nightcap, 3 to 1, Monte Pearson pitching a four-hit game and striking out seven Indians.

However, because of the split, the Yankees' long lead was trimmed a trifle, the Detroit Tigers beating the Washington Senators, 4 to 3, and moving up 9½ games off the pace.

The Chicago White Sox beat Lefty Grove and the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 3, and the Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Browns split a pair, the A's taking the opener, 8 to 2 and dropping the second game, 3 to 1.

The New York Giants and Chicago Cubs continued toward a blanket finish in the National league, both winning and the Giants remaining 2½ games in front.

Giants Win, 7-2.

Hal Schumacher hurled the Giants to an easy 7 to 2 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates, while Curt Davis did the pitching and Demaree the hitting as the Cubs trimmed the Boston Bees, 5 to 2. Davis allowed six hits. Demaree made two of the seven hits, Shoffner gave up seven, one of them being a homer.

Gene Schott allowed the Brooklyn Dodgers only six hits and beat them 6 to 0 for the Cincinnati Reds in the first of a double-header, and the Dodgers took the nightcap, 8 to 5.

The Philadelphia Phillies and St. Louis Cardinals played 13 innings to a 6 to 6 deadlock, marking the third odd inning game in two days between the two clubs. Tuesday they played one game for 14 innings and the nightcap in 4½.

Frisch Agrees To Pilot Cards

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16.—Frankie Frisch has agreed to manage the St. Louis Cardinals in 1938, it was stated Wednesday in an article published in the St. Louis Star-Times.

The newspaper stated that "while the official contract has not been signed, it is known that Frisch came to a satisfactory agreement on terms in a conference held with President Sam Breadon several days ago."

Breadon declined to comment on the article. Asked if Frisch would be with the Cardinals next year, Breadon replied:

"Probably so."

Off To Cincinnati

BEN CICCONE, - CENTER -

In mid-season condition following a summer of continuous exercises, Benny "Red" Ciccone, former New Castle high, Duquesne, Pittsburgh Professional and Cleveland Rams star, left New Castle early Wednesday morning for Cincinnati, O., where he has been offered a berth with a professional team there.

Ciccone is regarded as one of the most outstanding athletes here.

Name Outstanding Softball Players

Having followed the sport since its inception here about 10 or 11 years ago, Franklin "Frub" Crisci and Fred Marcella, president and secretary respectively, of the City Softball league, today sent in a selection of the best softball players in New Castle.

Crisci and Marcella have spent considerable time going through the list of softball aspirants and have come through with an unusually splendid selection.

The backstops picked: Texie Richards, Peachy Fornataro, Sammy Bullano, Hippo Young and Lundy Aven. The moundsmen include: Greg Ross. Irv Rubeis, Norman Bishara, Andy Beres, Hap Rodgers, Bob Pascarella, Joe Isabella, Frank Babs and James Mauri. Shortstops: Elroy Lockley, Austin Cowmeadow, Pipe Macki, Oakie Ross and Nickie Gennock.

First basemen: Bill Lutz, Nickie Biondi, Fuzzy Neyman, Adolph Valiensi and Frank Stone. Second basemen: Mike DiMuccio, Dave Kaufman, Chuck Summers, Teddy Koltz and Benny Augostine. Third sackers: Joe Mazzari, Ted Turco, Joe Kelley, Al Keder and Pete Zingaro.

Roving short: Nickie Ross, Frank Vigali, Mickey Polenick, Chuck Henderson and Ronnie Thomas. Left field: Eddie Hilton, John Melder, Jackie Jones, Tony Mastern and Jerry Pia. Middle field: Gabby De Caprio, Dundo Ambrosia, Frank Copple, Tobe Fenati and Benny Marino. Right field: Sid Lockley, Jack Llewellyn, Tippy Richards, John Teplica and Louie Colello.

Outstanding managers: Howard "Fat" Reed, Fritz Fraser, Ray "Bung" Cutler, Tippy Richards and Andy "Coots" Venditto. Outstanding championship teams: Radiators, four years, and Lockleys, second. Joe Mazzari posted the best playing record, participating in the sport for 10 straight seasons with one team—Radiators. The Rads smashed a record, winning 47 straight battles. The best hurling mark was set by Greg Ross who won 20 straight tussles. Frank Crisci holds the home run record, poling out 32 circuit wallops in 1933.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Chief Counsel raced through a field of crack 2-year old pacers at Reading Wednesday to win two straight heats and first place in the Rich Village Farm stake, $4,000. Deal Hanover, won the 3 year old trot, purse $4,174.32; Clever Hanover took the 2:13 trot, purse $700 and Volo Hedgewood won the 2:19 pace, purse $500.

Len Harvey, British light-heavy weight, technically knocked out Manuel Abrew of Scotland in the fourteenth round at Glasgow last night....Cats Cradle, ridden by Reggie Root, and owned by E. Johnson, broke away from a field of five and won by 25 feet in the five furlongs event at Wheeling yesterday.

Henry Armstrong, California featherweight sensation will oppose Bobby Dean of Washington, D. C. in a 10-round bout at Youngstown next Tuesday night. Armstrong is owned by Al Jolson and managed by Eddie Meade, formerly of Cleveland and New York. Armstrong is recognized by the National Boxing association as the ruler of the featherweight world. He knocked out Charlie Burns at Pittsburgh last week. Dean defeated Lloyd Pine of Akron in his list appearance at Youngstown and has trounced Eddie Zivic several times.

There are peculiar happenings in football the same as in other branches of sport. For instance take the chin-tackle. Art Murray of the University of Missouri in 1935, won a long tackle struck his chin against the heel of a touchdown-bound Warrensburg, Mo. Teachers back. The ball-carrier crashed to the ground and Missouri won the game 7 to 0.

Here's Max Baer again. He went to Oakland, Calif., to visit his father who is ill and incidentally delivered a few lines from his mammoth chest. He said he expects Max Schmeling to beat Joe Louis in their second fight and added: "I can lick both those guys."

Home Run Hitters

(International News Service)

Camilli, Phillies (2); Werber, Athletics; Hasson, Athletics; Averill, Indians; Medwick, Cardinals; Demaree, Cubs; Garms, Bees.

Leaders—DiMaggio, Yankees, 42; Greenberg, Tigers, 35; Gehrig, Yankees, 34; Foxx, Red Sox 33.

Progress of chivalry, explaining many things: 1890—"She's a sweet lady." 1937—"She's a swell gal."

Hero And Goat

(International News Service)

The Hero: "Lemon" Solters, whose 10th inning triple gave Indians 5 to 4 victory over Yankees.

The Goat: Wes Ferrell, who had 3 to 1 victory for Senators over Tigers until ninth when he allowed three runs and lost 4 to 3.

Union Soldiers, Enroute South, Developed Cheer Later Used By Colleges

By WALTER JOHNS
Central Press Sports Writer.

It was at the Rutgers-Princeton game that Princeton's cheer, with the "skyrocket" motif—still used with variations—was sounded.

Princetonians borrowed the cheer

Union students meet train.

in 1861 from the seventh regiment of New York as it passed through by train enroute to Washington.

Nearly all the Union students in college had gone down to the junction to meet the train that night and the soldiers responded to the soldiers' greeting with a "Siss! Boom! Ah!" which they had adopted during the trip to Richmond when escorting the body of President Monroe.

With some variations, here's the Princeton cheer:

"Rah! Rah! Rah!
Tiger, tiger, tiger
Sis, sis, sis
Boom, boom, boom,
Ah!
Princeton! Princeton! Princeton!"

Brights Win Second Half

Carnegie Illinois Steel Company Softball League Proves Exciting

SERIES STARTS ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Today the Brights Hot Mill are second half champs of the Carnegie Illinois Steel Company softball league.

The Brights won the laurels by virtue of the 10-8 victory of the second New Castle Works over the second place Mechanicals and a 1-0 forfeit to the Brights over the Cold Rolls who failed to have a team on the field last evening.

This was the third successful year for the loop which proved exciting throughout. The Brights, under the Frankhouser name, rolled up the title in 1935. Cold Rolls crashed through with the championship in 1936. The 1937 title goes to the winner of five game series between the New Castle Works team, first half titlists, and Bright Hot Mill.

The big series, always one of the major athletic events of the autumn season here, gets underway Saturday afternoon on the Clifton Flats field, at 2:30 o'clock. The second tussle is carded for Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, also on the Flats field. Tex Richards and Sam Bullano will officiate the games. Much credit for the success of the circuit goes to Edgie Skaneski, one of the most energetic officials of the loop.

Final standing:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Brights	7	2	.777
Mechanicals	5	4	.555
New Castle Works	3	4	.428
Cold Rolls	1	6	.142

Rozzi was on the mound for the Russos and held the Hoods to four hits. Theopolis and Hook were unable to stop the onslaught of the fighting Russos. Saturday morning at Rose avenue field at 10:30 o'clock the third of the five-game series will be played.

Westminster Squad Appears Promising

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa. Sept. 16.—This is a coach's dream, a team without a single graduating senior. The Westminster Titans, under a new coaching staff, Washabaugh and Kelleher, will have a team made up entirely of freshmen, sophomores, and only three juniors.

In the backfield positions, Washabaugh will have veterans Laposkki, New Brighton sophomore, who was W. P. I. A. L. quarterback selection in 1936; Harry Shoup, Bessemer sophomore, who co-captained his high school team; Earl Wright, veteran junior from Perry high school, Pittsburgh, who played fullback on the city-championship team in 1933; Merle Maffei, Tarentum, freshman, a three-letter man and W. P. I. A. L. choice for four years; Walter Kenyon, Pitcairn sophomore; Perry Black, Brentwood freshman, three-letter man; and Ken Smith, Aliquippa senior, quarterback and an excellent punter.

At the center job in the line, Washabaugh has Henry Throup, 185 pound Bessemer basketball forward, and Frank Bretthole, varsity linesman from Carnegie, who has always played tackle. For end position, Mel Miller, New Brighton sophomore, is a certain choice, with the other wing position doubtful, since Ken Grubb, Youngstown junior, has not returned to the squad.

Tackles will be no great worry in the Titan camp, with John Susko, varsity junior, in one spot and Dan Mamula, 205 pound South high star from Pittsburgh a good bet for the other. Stan Lutton, Buffalo, N. Y., sophomore, with experience on last year's squad is also showing up well for a tackle job.

Guards are in abundance in the Titan line, with Dale Youkers, Butler, last year varsity, as a probable starter; and Bill Ruefle, Pittsburgh freshman and Peabody high all-city linesman, as the second best choice. Others fighting for places in the Titan line are Joe Young, Aliquippa; Mike Robbe, Pittsburgh; and Floyd Whiteman, New Wilmington.

Other men trying out for the varsity squad are William Marshall, Peabody high, Pittsburgh; Jack Warner, Westtown high, Indiana; David Schwartz, Hickory; James Elliott, Tarentum; Glen Lutz, McKeesport; Henry Hudson, Kittanning; Donald Riblet, Academy high, Erie; Paul Rood, Kittanning; and Robert McClune, Ligonier.

Thirty men out in uniform, with prospects of 10 more before the end of the week. The Westminster policy is to keep all available men in uniform during the entire season, instead of cutting the squad.

The Titans open the season against Bethany college in West Virginia, October 2.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—Tom Laird, San Francisco writer who seldom makes a mistake in sizing up a ball player, brings word that Mike Tresh, who is catching for Oakland, will make the Tigers next year, or else . . . the "or else" in this case is a guy named Rudy York, who has been doing a dandy job for the Bengals since putting on the mask . . . One of the reasons for Al Weill's success as a matchmaker is that he never would let a manager talk (or buy) his fighter into a bout . . . Weill, who now is Mike Jacobs' chief assistant, matches them the way he sees them, and he sees them with a sharp eye . . . he is probably the only promoter who was able to put on fights during the depression period and make money.

Squire (Battling Burleigh) Grimes of the Dodgers has been letting his temper get away with him in his handling of the team . . . the other day First Baseman Buddy Hassett was removed from the game because he blew a twisting bunt . . . Grimes roared at the youngster . . . and Hassett roared back . . . the dear old Dodgers still are the dear old Dodgers . . . Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling whenever Max isn't managing himself (on alternate Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays) says the biggest laugh he got this year was the statement issued by the Twentieth Century club concerning that series of elimination bouts "between fellows like Braddock, Schmeling, Baer, Pastor and Farr" to select an opponent for Joe Louis . . . says Joe, "That's like saying Schmeling qualified for an elimination tournament to pick a guy to fight Louis—by knocking Louis' brains out." It is kind of funny, at that.

Ex-shortstop Arky Vaughan of the Pirates says he likes the outfield so well he thinks he'll stay there . . . The California football experts aren't able to find a team they don't think will be beaten this fall . . . Coach Stub Allison of California offers some illuminating testimony . . . says he, "I think California, Southern California, Stanford and Washington will have an edge on the others this year—but you can't overlook U. C. L. A. either" . . . Consider the case of Bob Weiland . . . he was kicked around the American league for years and now is the best finger on the Cards' staff . . . The tip is Jadwiga Jedrzejowska to win the national tennis title . . . the Polish gal has been playing some fine tennis this year.

Rudy York, the first fellow to shade the Babe's record for 17 home runs in a month, is part Cherokee Indian . . . and four years ago was a garage mechanic in a little Georgia tank town . . . And Cochrane made a catcher out of him after he had failed at almost every other position except pitching . . . Well, what's the name of the fellow who'll open the wrestling season Sept. 15 in Madison Square Garden against Crusher Casey? . . . yes, Jim Londos . . . Four other men besides Johnny Goodman have won the National Open and National Amateur . . . Jerome Travers, Chick Evans, Francis Ouimet and Bobby Jones. And that's all for today . . . have to protect my hands.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—With a veteran first team and seventeen deep at every position, Dr. John Bain Sutherland might be expected to look forward to the football season with a calm, clear eye . . . but Pitt's canny coach is troubled . . . the experts are picking Pitt to roll everybody and right on into the Rose Bowl . . . the good doctor doesn't go for that sort of psychology.

Pitt's starting eleven as it stands now has Bill Daddio and Frank Souchak or Paul Shaw at ends, Tony Matisi and George Delich at tackles, Walter Raskowski and Steve Petro at guards, Don Hensley at center, Johnny Michelosen at quarterback, Marshall Goldberg and Harold Stebbins at the halves, and Frank Patrick at full.

All of these men are letter men.

On the second team are Red Fleming and either Souchak or Shaw at ends, Kristofek and Merkovsky at tackles, Lezouski and Dalle Tezze at guards, Adams at center, Chickerneo at quarter, Urban and Peace at halves and Stapulis at full.

All of these except Kristufek and Peace are veterans.

Not a bad outlook, eh lads? But wait, there's still another young man to be heard from, Fabian Hoffman, regular right end last year. Hoffman, who has been on a world cruise, is expected to get back in time for the season's opener. Dr. Sutherland says that his return will "complicate" the right end situation. Good word, complicate!

Football has become a tussle that saddens many a forecaster as he picks up the Sunday paper and beholds the upsets. But I don't see how Pitt can lose to anybody this year. That's a whale of a ball club.

Up At Minneapolis

Bernie Bierman, though he doesn't say as much, must be happy over Minnesota's backfield prospects, though he must get along this year without Julie Alfonse at right halfback . . . Andy Uram will be at his customary left half position . . . Martin Christiansen and Larry Buhler, last year's outstanding sophomore fullback hopefuls give the Gophers two bruising line plungers . . . three graduates must be replaced at quarter, but Bierman already has moved big Vic Spadaccini, the Hard Rock from Keewatin to the signal post . . . Christiansen can take the signal calling job . . . Bill Gilchrist sophomore fullback hopeful, also is a highly regarded candidate for the quarter (and blocking) job . . . over at right half is little, elusive Rudy Gmitro, who has shown definite capabilities as a field general . . . there's still another quarterback on the premises—George Faust, who won his letter last year as an alternate.

Talk on the campus at Minneapolis echoes the name of Gmitro as the man to watch this year . . . the little blond bombshell can play any position in the backfield.

Good Cheer At Alabama

Looking around for another happy coach, this rambling discourse leaps south to Alabama, where Frank Thomas is all ready to come up with a backfield that ought to shake all the cotton out of the Southeastern conference . . . in that backfield are Joe Kilgrow, Charley Holm, Vic Bradford and Blackie Caldwell, all names that are familiar to you . . . Thomas believes he has in Kilgrow a young man who may run right from left halfback to the All-American goal . . . though Frank isn't saying that, of course . . . oh yes, it looks very nice indeed for Alabama.

MYSTERY FIRE DISCLOSED

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS—"Where's the fire?" an Indianapolis fire battalion chief asked as he responded to an alarm at the Cohen used car store here.

"In an automobile" was the reply.

"Where?"

"On the roof."

The fire department official was surprised to learn that an old automobile which had been stored on the roof had been ignited by a minor explosion. The fire was extinguished with chemicals.

Newark Whips Syracuse, 7-2

Second Game Of International League Play-off Goes To Bears

(International News Service)

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 16.—The combination of Atley Donald's pitching and the clouting of "Flash" Gordon was credited today with leading the Newark Bears to their second straight victory over the Syracuse Chiefs in the semi-finals of the International League playoffs.

The Bears turned back the Chiefs, 7 to 2, under floodlights behind the effective nine-hit hurling of Donald, with the aid of Gordon, who hit a homer and a double. The teams meet for the third time in the four-out-of-seven series tonight at Syracuse.

Continued rain postponed the opening of the other semi-final series between the Baltimore Orioles and the Royals at Montreal for the second time.

The winners of both series will clash in the final play-offs for the governor's cup and the right to meet the winner in the American Association in the "Little World Series."

Budge Loser Of Singles Battle

Tennis Champ Drops Initial Decision Of Year; Anita Lizana Wins

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Far from his top form, Donald Budge left here today with his first defeat of the year in singles play marring his record.

In an exhibition at the Onwentsia club, Henner Henkel of Germany turned back Budge in straight sets, 6-4, 10-8. Budge, holder of both the Wimbledon and American singles championships, was away off his game, he repeatedly drove into the net or was out of bounds.

Baron Gottfried Von Cramm made it Germany's day by whipping Bobby Riggs of California, 2-6, 8-6, 6-4 in the other men's singles exhibition.

Women's play saw Anita Lizana, Chile, beat Gracyn Wheeler, California, 10-8, 7-5, and Jadwiga Jedrzejowska of Poland win the first set, 6-4, from Marie Louis Horn, Germany, before darkness halted the match at six games each in the second set.

Escaped Reform School Lads Caught

BUTLER, Pa., Sept. 16.—Two Iowa youths, who state motor police claim admitted a trail of crime from Iowa to Butler, including burglaries in this county, were held today as fugitives from justice at request of Iowa authorities.

They are listed as G. E. Owen, 19, of Fort Dodge, Ia., and Francis L. Puckett, 17, of Birmington, Ia. Both had escaped from a reform school in Iowa.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

Did you ever walk along the street and watch the expressions on the faces of the population . . . it's very interesting and the past few days has been of great interest . . . before and after . . . the election . . . although the election is two days past we are wondering what the boys that had it in the bag are thinking . . . I suppose we will wonder this until the end of time.

Do you know your news boy? . . . do you know him by name or just by face? . . . here is one boy you should know . . . starting in a few days will be a rather interesting account of your news boy.

It won't be long 'till the old town will look like a Christmas tree . . . no it won't be the time for celebrating but it will be time to turn on the many new traffic lights that have been installed this past month . . . well, maybe it will cut down the speed of some of you guys . . . yes, we are guilty of the same act but some of you are really dangerous.

A suggestion came in today about the parking meters . . . it suggests that the city install vending machines on the parking meter posts . . . one could contain chewing gum . . . another candy and so on down the line . . . "well, it was a thought" the donor said.

Next Monday the Junior Chamber of Commerce will bring to New Castle a great band . . . the United States Marine Band . . . two great shows will be presented that day . . . one at Taggart Stadium in the afternoon and one at the Cathedral Theatre in the evening . . . it will be well worth your while to see at least one of these performances . . . the one in the afternoon will present the Marine Band and also a number of first rate high school bands from surrounding communities . . . plan your Monday schedule to take in at least one of these programs.

Market Scores Early Recovery

U. S. Steel Early Pacemaker; Chrysler Rises And General Motors Better

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The stock market today scored an early recovery from yesterday's late weakness but profit-taking on the initial bulge cut gains of one to two points.

U. S. Steel was the early pacemaker, opening 1½ higher and then extending its gain. It lost more than half of this by the end of the first hour. The rest of the steel section followed this pattern though the undertone was firmer after yesterday's late weakness.

Rails displayed a better trend though unable to hold initial gains running to over a point. Utilities displayed some irregularity with Consolidated Edison and North American under pressure.

Oils scored gains running to over a point. Phillips led on announcement that its financing plans would be deferred because of market conditions.

Chrysler rose over a point and held its gain while General Motors was better. Mail orders gained, as did most of the rubbers.

Weakness in coppers, where losses ran to over a point, reflected increase in stocks on hand last month. Aviations were heavy, as were most of the chemicals. Oliver Farms and International Harvester weakened. The latter was strong at the start.

Wheat was weak in commodities, falling around two cents a bushel to a new season's low, as September corn gained further on fears of a "squeeze." Cotton was higher.

The French franc rallied after tumbling to a new 11-year low as the French equalization fund provided support. Foreign markets were irregular. Governments were up in the bond market.

Dinner Is Planned By Braeden Circle

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 16.—Miss Jean Wimer entertained members of the Mary Braeden Circle of the Wurtemburg United Presbyterian church in a hospitable manner on Tuesday evening at her home, at Wurtemburg, for the September meeting.

It was a temperance meeting and the leaders were: Mrs. R. H. Kirk and Mrs. J. E. Caughey. Plans were made to hold the annual "dollar-day" dinner at the church on Friday evening, October 8. All former members and friends of the circle will be invited to attend the dinner and program that will be planned.

After a social hour, the hostess aided by her sister, Mrs. Harry Cook, served the guests a dainty repast.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Collins and daughters, Ruth and Irma, of Avella, Washington county, have returned home after visiting for a week at the home of Mrs. Collin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Menice, of Franklin township.

Little Bits Of This And That About Ellwood

Perhaps the most original and unique display of the many fine ones at the Women's and Garden clubs flower display held at the Country Club on Tuesday was a container made by George Nicklas, well known flower enthusiast, of the Ellwood City road. It was fashioned from two tiny gourds, a yellow one for the base and a green striped one for the holder.

By the chill of the air, it would indicate that the gorgeous flowers of the autumn season must soon make way for that old familiar fall painter, Jack Frost, who is evidently getting his brushes ready for an early start. While the pictures he paints are beautiful and artistic, we would prefer to keep our flowers a little longer.

The bridge at North Sewickley has received a coat of aluminum paint that added to its appearance considerably. It must have been a rush job as the painters worked both Sunday and Monday.

Very little difficulty was experienced by election boards in this district by people who were ineligible to vote or for other reasons.

Boys are still in the lead at the Ellwood City hospital. During the month of August 12 boys were born and 9 girls, increasing the country's population by a total of 21, which is a decrease of one compared with the total for July. The little ladies are forging ahead from their stand in July which was 5 to 17 in favor of the young gallants.

Ellwood Primes For Monaca Game

Ellwood To Meet Monaca Football Team Here Saturday; Ben Keller Is Captain

HARD CONTEST IS SEEN BY COACHES

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 16.—After a period of three years, Ellwood City high school will resume football relations with Monaca high school, when the two teams clash on Saturday afternoon at Lincoln field.

The squad emerged from the Wesleyville game in fine shape and reported back for practice on Monday afternoon. They have been given a number of new plays this week and a chalk talk showing the plays employed by Monaca last Saturday afternoon when they were held scoreless by a powerful Ambridge team for their first game.

On the strength of this defeat of their next opponents, the Wolverines are prone to regard the approaching contest as an easy one. Coach Croft and his assistant, Howard Gills, are not nearly so optimistic and are impressing the Ellwood eleven that during the first quarter of the Ambridge-Monaca game, the winners were held scoreless by the fighting Monacaites. No doubt, like Wesleyville, Monaca was outclassed in their opener.

Acting captain, Ben Keller, left tackle, at a recent meeting, was elected captain of the team for the season.

The lineup for Saturday's game will be announced tomorrow.

Justice Black Apparently Not To Make Answer

(International News Service)

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Despite the growing furore caused by charges he is a member of the Ku Klux Klan, Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black today gave no indication he is planning immediately to answer President Roosevelt's virtual appeal for a statement on the issue.

Tight-lipped, unsmiling and apparently determined to preserve the outward appearance of an American traveler holiday-bent, Black slipped out of the back entrance of his hotel early this afternoon.

He took a brief walk and then headed for the book-shops where he has spent most of the few hours he has been outside his hotel suite.

It can't be that people get their share of hell here on earth. Those we dislike never seem to get enough of it.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—THERE'LL COME A DAY

State Employment Service To Expand

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16.—The Social Security Board has just made available to Pennsylvania an outright grant of $386,625 to finance expansion of the state employment service.

Expansion of state employment services through funds granted by the board is one aspect of the program to coordinate unemployment compensation and employment service. Such expansion is made necessary by the unemployment compensation program in the Federal Social Security Act. Explaining the necessity for this, R. Gordon Wagenet, director of the board's Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, said:

"In connection with state unemployment compensation benefits the state employment offices will be required to register all claimants for benefits and to direct them to new unemployment whenever possible. In the event suitable work is not available, it is through the employment offices that the eligible unemployed worker will be paid the benefits due him under the state unemployment compensation law. The cost of these added duties is a proper part of the cost of administering the state unemployment compensation laws and is, therefore, financed by grants for the purpose by the Social Security Board."

Mr. Wagenet's explanation means that when a worker in New Castle and vicinity loses his job he will go to the local office of the state employment service and apply for unemployment compensation benefits. That office will seek to find him a job. Failing in this, the local office will pay him the proper weekly benefits, at the same time keeping an eye open for a job for the unemployed worker. Only workers eligible to participate in the unemployment compensation program may apply for such benefits.

Of these, 1,405 were freshmen coming from all counties of the commonwealth, many states and several foreign countries. Action of limiting the enrollment to this figure was considered necessary because of limitations of the physical plant and teaching staff.

Excavations are under way for the new $1,100,000 dormitory on the east campus, expected to be completed next fall, with a housing capacity for 500 women students.

CAMP RENTZ GETS LEADER'S PRAISE

Pennsylvania 'Y' Men Hear Tribute From District Secretary Kohl

Camp Fred L. Rentz, the New Castle Y. M. C. A. camp along Slippery Rock creek, is "probably the finest eqipped Y. M. C. A. camp in this section of the country," in the opinion of a leading "Y" executive, District Secretary Leo H. Kohl of Pittsburgh.

Kohl made that declaration before a Y. M. C. A. group in Chambersburg, Pa., last week. Association leaders from all over the state heard it.

Camp Rentz, the gift of the man whose name it bears, has developed through the years into one of the most ideal recreation spots in this area. Mr. Kohl has visited it and his remarks indicate the impressions the camp left.

The "Y" men were also told that the New Castle association boasts of a "consistency in boys' volunteer leadership" not equalled by many associations. The lads who start giving service while young remain through the years to serve it as young men.

The camp enjoyed its most successful season this summer.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16. Weather conditions during the past week were generally favorable to Pennsylvania crops and farms work, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported today in its weekly synopsis of weather and crop conditions in this state.

Although heavy rainfall occurred in some areas, 'very little time was lost due to rainy weather," the report said. It added:

"Corn matured rapidly during the last few weeks and the crop was being cut and shocked during the week, with silo-filling progressing rapidly in mostly all sections. Plowing and preparing the ground for seeding of winter wheat continued, with a few correspondents reporting an increased acreage.

"In northwestern sections oat threshing is about completed and reports indicate that the crop there is not up to expectations. Meadows and pastures are now mostly in good to excellent condition, although rain will soon be needed in many portions of east-central Pennsylvania. Early potatoes as a whole averaged a good crop, but reports on the late varieties show complaints of blight in many sections.

"The tobacco crop is all housed. The hot weather of late August followed by heavy rains, injured the crop to a great extent, and some fields are a total loss due to rust and insects.

Error In Total Vote Given For Humphrey

Ellwood City Man Received 1137 Votes In New Castle —Finished Second

Due to an error in The News tabulation total on Wednesday, September 15, the vote of Attorney Raymond Humphrey of Ellwood City for the Democratic nomination for judge was given as 700 less than he actually received. The mistake was in the total of the city vote and not in the precinct totals.

The total shown in the table for the city was 437 for Humphrey. He received 1137 votes in New Castle. Added to his county total of 1456 this gave him a grand total of 2593 votes and puts him in second place instead of third. He was defeated for the nomination by Attorney John S Powers by only 453 votes, Mr. Powers getting 3046 and Attorney Charles Matthews 2395

In the stress of getting out an election table errors sometimes creep in. In the table shown Wednesday there are 2986 different figures. The margin of error is slight but slight as it is, unfortunate.
